PREFACE.

THE number of sacred music books has been greatly multiplied within the last few years. Mason's publications alone have furnished the churches with a rich variety of music, arranged and harmonized in a style of unequalled beauty and sublimity, and characterized by a chasteness, simplicity, and facility of expression, and all that is adapted to dignify and elevate the character of devotional song, which must commend it to the hearty acceptance of the most intelligent and best cultivated minds in the world. And from the number of editions of these publications, which have succeeded each other in rapid succession, and which have been anxiously sought after and liberally distributed throughout the country, it seems fair to infer the existence of a happily increasing interest in the subject.

The fact, also, that the unscientific and trashy publications, which but too lately were held in high popular estimation, and which supplied the churches, especially of the south and west, with nearly all their music, are now being in a great degree displaced by those of a more serious and scientific character, indicates a decided improvement in the popular taste.

It is a singular fact, nevertheless—and one which demands the serious consideration of the friends of music, and which it concerns teachers and guides in the science to account for—that by far the largest portion of the community are altogether unacquainted with the elementary principles of the science, and have no use for written music whatever; and this is the case, not only among the ignorant and unlearned, but among the more enlightened and educated portions of the community. Even among members of the church, a very small minority are able to distinguish one note from another, and two-thirds of the ministers find it more difficult to sing the plainest tune unaided, without having first heard it, than to write a sermon. And I must add, though I regret the occasion which requires it, that of the classes that receive the instructions of our most scientific and devoted teachers—however they may sing what they have learned by the hearing of the ear—not one half are even able to read and comprehend the simplest passages in the books.

Whence, and how is this? Do the people feel no concern upon the subject? Have they no desire to understand the science, or to acquire the art? Or have our guides been at fault? Have they left the simple path of nature, and constructed a road less inviting and more intricate and difficult? Multitudes,—often those of the first order of intellect, who cannot be suspected of a want of energy equal to any mental enterprise,—are heard to say daily, how much they would give to be able to sing by note. They have paid some attention to the subject, but a mist seemed to hang over it. They have, perhaps, entered upon the study with earnestness and zeal, but the first results were unsatisfactory, and the difficulties in attaining any thing like an accurate knowledge of the subject appeared insurmountable, with the time and labour which they were prepared to bestow. The fact is notorious, and these deplorable results follow the most improved system of Pestalozzian analysis.

These results are by no means owing to any want of ability or zeal on the part of those engaged in instruction. The energy and untiring perseverance of those who have for some years past devoted themselves to the business of instruction, and the preparation of music-books, are worthy of all praise, and command our highest admiration. But with the experience of the past, and a just observation of the present, it requires not the gift of prophecy to foretell, that while the same system is continued, no efforts to extend the boundaries of knowledge in this department of science, however energetic and well directed, will succeed in any degree adequate to the wishes and expectations of its friends.

A radical reform in the mode of writing music is what is required. We must cease to inculcate as elementary principles mere dogmas, arbitrarily imposed upon us by those who have gone before. We must make no factitious distinctions where there are no differences. I have bestowed much time and consideration upon this subject, having had the experience of a number of years in teaching. I have looked at the subject again and again, impartially and independently, as far as possible without reference to existing theories, and uninfluenced by the settled opinions and interesting systems of others; and though conscious that I must hazard the imputation of vanity and presumption, I have ventured to offer to the public a "new book," presenting the subject in a shape less complicated, more simple, and as I conceive more in accordance with nature.

I respectfully ask of musicians a careful examination of this work, and a careful consideration of the particulars in which it differs from others, and which I cannot but believe they will agree with me in denominating improvements.

PECULIARITIES OF THIS WORK.

I. VARIETIES OF MEASURE, OR MODES OF TIME.

As music is ordinarily written, the varieties of measure amount to some nine or ten. Professor Mason says in his Carmina Sacra, page 7, "Other varieties also may be used,"—even as many as fifteen or more. In this work only three varieties are used, equal, unequal and compound.

The reasons which induce this change, and the claims it has to be considered an improvement in the mode of writing music, may be estimated from the following considerations.

1st. Other varieties are not necessary. Every variety of music may be written intelligibly in one or the other of these three measures—equal, unequal, or compound. All sounds, of whatever relative length, and in every possible combination, may be clearly represented to the eye without the use of any other.

2d. Other varieties are useless. They are of no practical value whatever. They do not define the time. For this the very highest authority may be adduced. "The example $\frac{2}{2}$ is not, necessarily, either slower or quicker than $\frac{2}{4}$; $\frac{3}{2}$ is neither slower nor quicker than $\frac{3}{8}$, &c. The different varieties of time in each of the above examples [the examples specify fifteen] are practically the same. To the eye they are different, to the ear alike."* These numerous varieties, or ways of writing music, then, are of course useless, inasmuch as they are, confessedly, really and in fact not varieties of measure at all, but are "practically the same."

* Professor Mason, Carmina Sacra, p. 7.

We sometimes find the same music written in different varieties of measure in different books, (and those, sometimes, by the same author,) and when a choir happens to be supplied with a variety of books, they are not unfrequently found singing in good time, and together, the same music, each unconscious that one is singing half-notes and another is singing quarters.

3d. These multiplied varieties are not only unnecessary and useless, they are positively injurious, and only tend to involve the subject in difficulties. "The most important requisite in all good performance," says the respected author quoted above, "is accuracy of time.—To acquire the habit of keeping good time requires much patience and perseverance; and it is in this that those who commence learning to sing are most likely to fail."* Nothing is more true, as the experience of every teacher will testify. But is it strange? Can it be otherwise, when the theory and the practice are so directly at variance? The acquisition of the art must be difficult when the theoretical instruction is so lumbered up with distinctions, without any essential differences. Much time and labour are spent in acquiring a knowledge of the many varieties of measure, as indispensable to the keeping of time; but when the pupil comes to practise, he finds that nearly all these varieties which have been so distinctly pointed out to him, are only such theoretically, and on paper; they are varieties to the eye, but in fact, and to the ear, they are the same. The eye readily perceives the distinction, but the ear cannot discern the difference. The measure of the eye and the measure of the ear do not agree. Each organ loses confidence in itself or in the other; nature is divided against itself—a conflict ensues—an appeal is made to the books, and each claims the victory; for, "to the eye they are different, to the ear alike"—each organ charges the other with deception and falsehood, and the poor pupil with "confusion worse confounded" despairs of ever finding "patience and perseverance" to carry him through the labyrinth of time.

But the evil may be rendered still more intelligible to all, and the advantage of the improved method will be fully justified by considering another particular. "Every person learning to sing should give strict attention to beating time. Experience proves, that where the habit of beating time is neglected, the ability to keep time is seldom acquired."† Such is doubtless the fact, as all teachers must know. To keep time, we must beat time, and when one mode of each measure only is used, correctness in keeping time is soon attained. The habit is soon formed of appropriating one beat to each half-note, or its equivalent, whether in equal or unequal measure.

This is the method adopted in this work. The music is so written that the measure and the counting, or beating, are always the same, whatever may be its character; and the habit once formed is never to be changed. To this most common mode of time teachers generally first introduce their pupils, and all is well until a variety is introduced; then the difficulty commences, and patience begins to be tried. The habit sedulously cultivated, and already well formed, is now to be directly contravened; and instead of appropriating a beat to each half-note, and one to two quarters, each quarter claims its beat, and the half-note two. The difficulty is not in giving a beat to each quarter, or two beats to the half, but is produced by the breaking up of a fixed habit, and the formation of another, which is so directly the opposite of the first. The more fixed and decided the first habit, the better is the pupil prepared for the performance of the first mode; but the formation of the second is proportionally difficult. This much is at length accomplished; then the pupil is put back upon his trials in the first measure, and he finds, to his discomfiture, that the second habit has almost displaced the first, and so he must address himself to that again. This, however, is only the beginning of his troubles; he must go through all the varieties, learning and unlearning, advancing and retreating, forming habits and again effacing them from his mind, to make room for the formation of others—forgetting as far as possible the first, in order to embrace the next; and forgetting the last in order to remember the first. Surely much patience and perseverance are required in such a work as this; and yet it is a labour which satisfieth not—nothing whatever is gained by it.

The method of writing music, adopted in this work, avoids all the evil, and accomplishes every purpose that can be needed or desired.

II. THE MINOR SCALE EXCLUDED.

The same general considerations which were offered in reference to the varieties of measure, may with equal propriety and force be urged against the usual distinction of major and minor scale, or major and minor mode. There is no ground for such a distinction in nature—such a distinction is not necessary. It answers no practical purpose whatever; and it is difficult to conjecture why it was invented, unless it were to confound the uninitiated, to puzzle the student, and to involve the whole subject in mystery.

The natural scale, with the sharp fourth, fifth, &c., contains all the sounds and all the intervals that can be furnished by the artificial minor scale. Every conceivable variety of music, bold and cheerful, soft and plaintive, may be written upon the natural scale. All music is in fact written upon it. The minor scale itself (so called) is founded upon it, or more properly is not really any thing different from it. The minor scale, it is evident, is neither more nor less than portions of two octaves of the natural scale—commencing with the sixth in the octave below the key, and ending with the sixth in the octave above. It is a part of the scale embracing such a proportion of half-intervals, as to secure a plaintive effect, and when a certain amount of this plaintive influence is introduced, it has been called the minor scale, or minor key. But why object to it? Because it is a distinction without a difference. We might, with equal propriety, commence a scale with the third, another with the fourth, another with the fifth, and so on, and name them from the peculiar musical effect—the sub-major where the tune is half as plaintive as the minor, and the super-major where the effect is peculiarly cheerful.

But the objection to this distinction is not merely that it answers no valuable purpose. Its effect is to produce confusion in the mind, and to hinder the progress of the student by introducing two keys into the theory, and fixing a double set of numerals to precisely the same sounds and syllables.

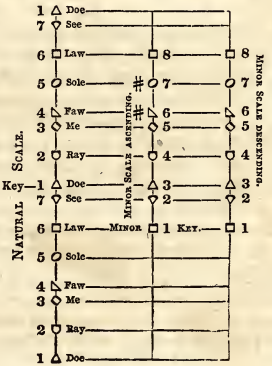
The key, or one, of the natural scale, is the basis or governing sound: it governs or determines the pitch of all the other sounds in the scale. It is of the first importance that the key, and the relation of other sounds to it, and their dependence upon it, be well understood and firmly fixed in the mind. Hence all authors and teachers are obliged to devote special attention to the exposition of this point, and to the practice of singing the scale by numerals, by skips, &c.; and this must be persevered in until, the key being given, the learner can with ease produce any sound of the scale when designated by its numeral.*

But when this is accomplished, and the situation of the half-intervals as always occurring between three and four, and between seven and eight, has become familiar to the pupil; and pleased with the ease with which he is able to recognise the high and low sounds by their numerical relation to the key, he fancies himself just prepared to read music with some satisfaction, his mind is at once and suddenly upset by the introduction of another scale, whose numerals conflict throughout with that which had been so firmly fixed in his mind. Now three is no longer three, but five; five is metamorphosed into seven; two has become four; four is six; seven is two; and one, yes, ONE, the key, which he supposed to be fixed, independent and immovable, sitting as a monarch on his throne, marshaling and locating his subjects around him, is now dethroned, and made to take the place of a slave. And to add to his confusion, he finds that even the "semitones" are represented as unfaithful servants to their master, now in duress, and as having in the general confusion left their places and taken their stations elsewhere. Inquiring earnestly for their whereabouts, he learns, to his amazement, and to the utter undoing of his confidence, that their location is uncertain; they have no abiding-place—that "in the minor scale, the tones and semitones do not occur in the same order, ascending, that they do in descending."†

In this work the minor key is not reckoned as belonging to the principles of the science; and by its entire exclusion, deceptive distinctions are avoided, the subject is divested of some of its mysteries, and presented in a manner at once natural, simple, and intelligible to all.



* "It is very important, and we repeat it, that the situation of the tones and semitones be firmly fixed in the mind of the scholar."—Mason's Manual, p. 110.

† The error of introducing into the theory of music another scale, separate but not distinct from the natural scale, and based upon a separate and imaginary key, called the minor key, may be demonstrated to the satisfaction of any one who will take the trouble to examine it. The justness of this thought may be tested by a reference to the illustration here presented. It is manifest that the numerals conflict, while the sounds agree. There is a double set of numerals to the same sounds and syllables. In excluding the imaginary minor key, the number of scales is not only reduced one-half—at least from twenty-eight to fourteen—but especially it should be noticed, the confusion of numbers is avoided.

III. POSITION OF THE LETTERS ON THE STAFF.

A new position has been assigned to the letters on the staff. Heretofore, and apparently without reason, so far as the author has been able to discover, the staff has been located, so to speak, on one side of the voice. The more appropriate location, doubtless, is to give G, the letter representing the central sound of the compass of the voice, a central position upon the staff. In this work, G is accordingly placed upon the middle of the staff, and the other letters occupy their places in due order.

By this arrangement, a great advance has been made towards simplifying and reducing to a more complete system the mode of writing music for the various classes of voices, and for various instruments. Heretofore the letters upon the staff have been located variously for the treble, the counter, and the base. The C cleff, indicating the position of the letters upon the alto staff, has of late years, however, gone nearly out of use in this country; and modern authors generally letter the alto staff in the same way as that of the treble. This was one step towards reform—rendering the subject less complicated, and easing the art of reading music of one of its unnecessary burdens.

In this work, the use of the cleff is entirely dispensed with, the new lettering of the treble staff rendering it perfectly convenient to write all music, for the base voice as well as for base instruments, on the same staff, or one similarly lettered. Thus, the central G of the base voice is fixed on the centre of the staff, and perfect uniformity is attained in the mode of lettering the staffs for all the parts in which music is written.

Teachers will be able to appreciate at once the advantage gained by this arrangement. It supersedes entirely the necessity of introducing into their lessons of instruction, all the scales based upon the F cleff, or base staff, and relieves them of all further concern in regard to just one-half of that half which remains after the carrying away of the fourteen by the exclusion of the so-called minor-key. And the pupil will find his mind no longer confused by the various positions of seven letters; and his memory burdened with endless distinctions. But having mastered the seven scales, based upon the seven letters occupying seven fixed places on the staff, he will find his way short and comparatively easy, without being required to retrace his steps or to cross his path. Much might be said in favour of this mode of writing music, and much will readily suggest itself, especially to the instrumental performer, to whom alone it will be an immense gain,* but further remark here is unnecessary. Those concerned, and the public, will judge for themselves.

* To the organist, and to the performer on the piano, the advantages of this method of lettering the staff will be incalculable. The labour of the pupil will be comparatively trifling. Every teacher knows that when the pupil has the position of the letters of one staff, and their relation to his instrument once fixed in his mind, he is, according to the method heretofore adopted, immediately perplexed to find that C in the first staff is not C in the base staff, but E; that the central line of one staff is B, and the central line of another is D; in short, that the letters of both, and their relation to the instrument, conflict throughout; and all this while the octaves on the instrument are exactly alike. Any one can, in some measure, appreciate the difficulty which consists not so much in learning the position of a number of letters, virtually amounting to fourteen—which would be objectionable enough, since it is unnecessary—but in distracting the mind by the use of two staffs, so much alike, and yet so much unlike.

Upon the method here adopted, when the pupil has mastered one staff, he has accomplished all in this department. The author designs, should the present work meet with public favour, in accordance with the repeated solicitations of many teachers, to publish a work upon this plan expressly for the piano-forte.

IV. THE SIGNATURE.

The signature ordinarily used, consisting of flats and sharps at the commencement of a tune, indicating the position of the key, has been laid aside, and its place supplied by the use of the word key itself. This mode of designating the place of the key has been adopted as being more simple, and less liable to misconstruction than the use of the flats and sharps. It is well known to all musicians, that the flats and sharps at the beginning of a tune are not designed to affect the voice in any manner whatever. The singer has no concern with them—except so far as they serve to indicate the place of the key; and yet it is amazing how many persons—who are by no means entire strangers to music books—have utterly misconceived the design of flats and sharps when used as a signature, and have supposed that they really affect the character of the music to which they are prefixed!—that the flats and sharps fix the place of the key, &c.

Now, as the key constitutes a sufficient and most intelligible signature; and as the performer on instruments, to whom alone they can be of any possible service, should make himself thoroughly acquainted with the rules for performing each scale, and is supposed to know immediately when the key is given, what letters are to be played flat or sharp: these characters have been entirely excluded from the signature, and the direct method of signing the key has been adopted.

V. FIGURED NOTES.

The system of seven syllables used as names for the different notes in the octave, now so deservedly popular in every part of the world, has been adopted in this work. Nothing is more easily demonstrable than the superiority of this to the four syllable system. For, if any thing at all is gained by giving names to the sounds of the octave—and of this there can be no question—it is easy to perceive that the nomenclature which appropriates to each sound in the octave a distinct name, must have the decided advantage over that which requires the same name to be applied to different sounds. On this plan, the association of the name and the sound—which is the great object designed in the use of names—is necessarily more complete; and universally, where this system is adopted in singing schools, the intonation is much sooner formed.

But this work differs from all others in the use of seven figured notes, each of a peculiar shape. Every singer knows how difficult it is to learn to apply the seven syllables to the notes all of one shape. The learner must know whether the note is doe, ray, or faw, by the lines and spaces on the staff. This he must learn in all the seven scales: for example, in the key of C, or in the C scale, doe is on C, ray on D, me on E, &c. And in the key of A, doe is on A, ray on B, me on C, &c. In short, in the seven scales, doe, as well as every other syllable in the octave, is on every line and space on the staff.

The system adopted in this work will be found to have the double advantage of giving to each sound its own name, and to each note or name its own form. As seven different syllables, or names, are used for the purpose of attaining the seven different sounds in the octave with greater facility; so seven different figures, or forms, are used for the purpose of obtaining the names immediately and with perfect certainty. The key, and the name of any note, and also its pitch and relation to the key, as well as its length, are all written and clearly presented to the eye of the reader by the figured symbol. The name, the shape, and the sound of a note, and its relative pitch, are thus perfectly associated.

The round notes teach nothing which is not taught by the use of the seven figured notes. But the figured notes do teach what the round notes do not. The musical ideas are the same, whether the notes be round or figured. But as the ideas are expressed unambiguously, and with equal precision, and, withal, may be read with greater facility when written in figured notes, seven characters are used in this work, as best adapted to increase the number of readers of music.

The peculiarities above specified embrace the chief characteristics of this work, and constitute its principal claims to public patronage. Whether to them shall be awarded the merit of being considered improvements, must be submitted to the decision of a liberal and enlightened community.

The vain design of thrusting before the world useless innovations upon the established principles of science, and of making unnecessary inroads upon the customary modes of instruction, has had no share in getting up this work. With the firm conviction that the science, as ordinarily presented in the books, might be divested of some of its mysteries and subtleties, and a sincere desire, if possible, to contribute something towards multiplying the number of those—alas! now too few—who shall be prepared to lift up their voices in harmonious strains of praise to HIM before whom "the morning stars sang together," the editor has done what he could, and now earnestly praying, that the day may not be far distant when the multitude of those who shall be able to "sing unto the Lord a new song" may be such as "no man can number," he cheerfully leaves the result of his labours in the hands of an impartial public.

ELEMENTS OF MUSIC.

Musical sounds may be considered in reference to their Pitch, Length, and Force. And upon these are founded three departments, which embrace the whole of the elementary principles of music.

Pitch regards a sound as high or low. Length, as long or short. Force, as loud or soft.

FIRST DEPARTMENT.—Pitch.

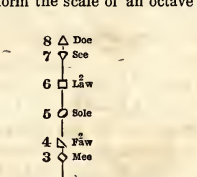
At the foundation of the high and low sounds, lies a series of eight sounds called the octave.

The distance between two sounds is called an interval.

The intervals throughout the whole variety of pitch are always uniform, though not equal to one another.

Certain of these intervals are only half as great as others. Hence we have what are properly called the greater and the less intervals, which, for the sake of convenience, are denominated whole-intervals and half-intervals.

The voice, in producing the eight sounds ascending, naturally passes from the first sound taken, a whole-interval to the second sound; from the second sound, a whole-interval to the third; from the third sound, a half-interval to the fourth—then proceeds to the fifth, sixth, and seventh, by whole-intervals; and from the seventh, the next step is a half-interval, to the eighth, making five whole-intervals, and two half-intervals. These eight sounds and the seven natural intervals form the scale of an octave; thus:



These notes called Doe, Ray, Mee, &c., represent the sounds; and the spaces between the notes represent the whole and half-intervals. From 1 to 2, from 2 to 3, from 4 to 5, from 5 to 6, and from 6 to 7, are whole-intervals—from 3 to 4, and from 7 to 8, are half-intervals.

QUESTIONS.

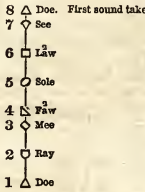
What three qualities belong to every musical sound? Into how many departments are the elements of music divided? What is pitch? What is length? What is force? What does the first department embrace? [Ans.—Every variety of pitch, or all the high and low sounds.] What is an interval? Are the intervals or steps in the voice uniform and equal to one another?

QUESTIONS.

What are the greater intervals called? What the less? In what order do the intervals occur when the voice produces the eight sounds ascending? Is this order natural or artificial? What is an octave? What do notes represent? What interval occurs between 1 and 2? 2 and 3? 3 and 4, &c.? What is the distance between 1 and 3? Between 1 and 4, 1 and 8, 3 and 8, &c.?

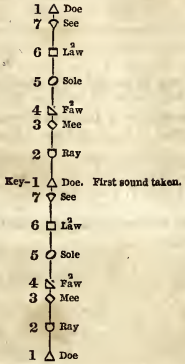
In descending, the voice naturally falls from the first sound taken a half-interval—then three whole-intervals in succession—then another half-interval—then two whole-intervals in succession—making five whole-intervals and two half-intervals.

These eight sounds and seven natural intervals form the scale of an octave descending, thus:



Thus it may be seen, the voice produces the same series of sounds, and passes over the same intervals, and forms the same scale, whether in ascending or descending an octave.

If the voice is extended either above or below the octave, it will naturally pass over the same gradation of sounds and intervals, as far as the compass of the voice extends. For example, take any sound, and raise the voice by the regular intervals an octave—then descend the octave, by the same steps, to the first sound taken—proceed an octave below—and you have a scale of two octaves in all respects similar, in each of which are eight sounds and seven natural intervals. The voice thus naturally forms, upon the first sound taken, two octaves; and this (the first sound taken) becomes the key or governing sound in the ear and voice; thus,



The figures 1, 2, 3, &c., are used to distinguish the different sounds in the octave, and designate precisely the distance of each sound from the key, and its relation to it.

QUESTIONS.

By what steps does the voice proceed in forming an octave descending? Is this order of sounds and intervals natural or artificial? [Ans. Natural.] What will be the result if the voice is extended above or below the octave?

QUESTIONS.

What is the key? [Ans. The governing sound in the ear and voice.] How does the voice form a scale of two octaves? Is this gradation of sounds and intervals natural or artificial? What is the use of the figures 1, 2, 3, &c.?

The key is always called 1, and the other numbers are appropriated to the sounds of the octave ascending.

The eighth sound of the octave ascending is always the first, or key of the octave above, and is therefore called 1, and the key or 1 is always the eighth of the octave below.

The key is not any particular sound; it may be of any pitch, higher or lower, and the natural rise and fall of the voice will be the same.

Neither is 2, or 5, or any other number in the scale, a particular sound except with reference to the key. Whatever may be the pitch of the key, 2 will always be one whole-interval above the key, 3 will be two whole-intervals, and 4 will be two whole-intervals and one half-interval above the key, &c.

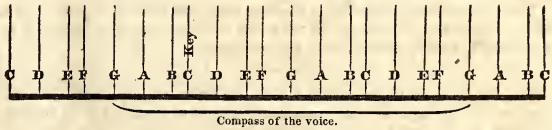
From the fact that the voice assumes no particular pitch as the key, and always distributes all the other sounds of the octave with reference to the key, throughout the whole range of its compass, arises the necessity of having fixed or stationary sounds by which to be governed.

The fixed or stationary sounds are obtained by means of instruments, which are put in tune by the ear—and, of course, are made to correspond with the sounds and intervals of the voice.

But as the ear readily distinguishes sounds both higher and lower than the compass of the voice extends, instruments are made to embrace a much wider range, extending often to six or seven octaves.

It is found by experience, that the ordinary compass of the human voice embraces about two octaves—but it is by means of instruments alone, that it is ascertained what sounds are embraced within the usual extent of its compass; and thus the sounds which the voice is capable of producing are located and specified, so that one sound may be compared with another, the instrument always being the standard of comparison.

The names of instrumental sounds are those of the first seven letters of the alphabet, as in the following illustration:



In this illustration, the lettered lines represent the sounds on instruments, and the spaces between the lines represent the whole and half-intervals.

The compass of the voice is indicated by the brace which extends from G to G, embracing two octaves.

In the application of these seven letters as names to the several sounds of the octave on instruments, it was necessary that one of the seven should be applied to the key. Any letter might have been selected; but C was the letter applied to the key.

The half-intervals, therefore, on all instruments occur between E and F and between B and C.

QUESTIONS.

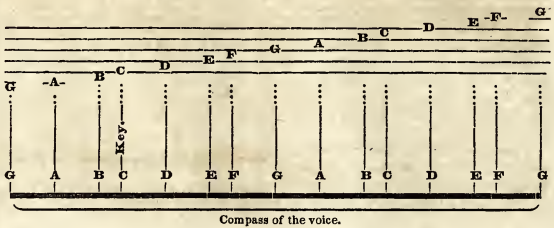
What numeral is always applied to the key? How are the other numbers appropriated? Explain the connection of the octaves? Do you mean by the key a sound of any particular pitch? Whence arises the necessity of having fixed sounds? How are fixed sounds obtained? How are instruments made. May instruments be made higher and lower than the compass of the voice? What is the ordinary compass of the human voice? How is it ascertained what sounds are embraced within its compass? Why study instrumental sounds when you only desire to learn vocal music? [Ans. Because it is only by means of fixed or stationary sounds that music is reduced to a science.] What are the names of instrumental sounds? What sounds are embraced within the compass of the voice? What letter is applied to the key or governing sound on instruments? Was this arbitrary? Where do the half-intervals occur on instruments?

C is the same sound on all instruments. D is the same sound; A; and so of all the other letters.

An instrument that produces but one sound, if it produces that sound at all times without variation, will furnish the means of ascertaining all the other sounds. If the instrument, for example, gives C, and the sound D is required—D is obtained by rising one whole-interval above the sound given; if B is required, it is always found a half-interval below C, &c.

Thus by means of instruments we have fixed and definite sounds, so that when we speak of A, or C, or G, we speak of a sound which is known to be always and in every part of the world the same.

In order to write these sounds, a scale of letters corresponding with the letters on the instrument must be constructed, and so arranged as to indicate the pitch of any sound intended to be represented—so that upon this scale each sound upon the instrument shall have its own fixed position upon the paper, and be known by its own name. For this purpose a staff is used which is composed of five lines and the spaces between them, thus:



The letters or names of the sounds on instruments are thus transferred to the staff; each line and space having its corresponding name, and representing a particular sound. The first line of the staff is C; the first space is D; the second line is E, &c. These five lines with their spaces constituting the most convenient staff, furnish nine places for notes.

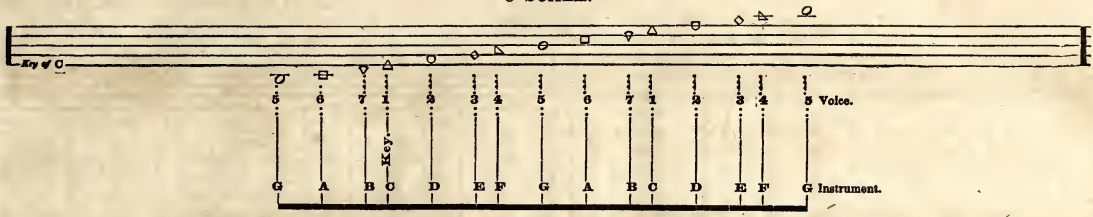
The compass of the voice is from G second space below the staff, to G second space above it; and when music is thus written, the spaces immediately above and below the staff are used; also the short lines called added lines.

QUESTIONS.

Do the sounds on all correct instruments correspond? [Ans. They do.] Are the numbers 1, 2, 3, &c., ever appropriated as names to the sounds of instruments? [Ans. No. It is only when we speak of the voice that we use the numbers.] Could you arrive at the true sound of any number or letter by means of an instrument that produces invariably a given pitch? If an instrument gives the sound C, how do you obtain the pitch D?

What is necessary in order to write music? What is the staff? Why are the lines and spaces named after the first seven letters of the alphabet? [Ans. Because the sounds on instruments are thus named.] How many places for notes does the staff furnish? Does the compass of the voice extend above and below the staff? Why is the staff constructed of five lines only? What is the use of added lines? Why is G placed on the middle line of the staff? [Ans. Because the sound called G on instruments is found to be about the central sound of the compass of the voice.]

C SCALE.



This scale of notes occupying the places of the letters on the staff, represents the fixed or stationary sounds on instruments.

C is the key or governing sound; this is therefore called the C scale.

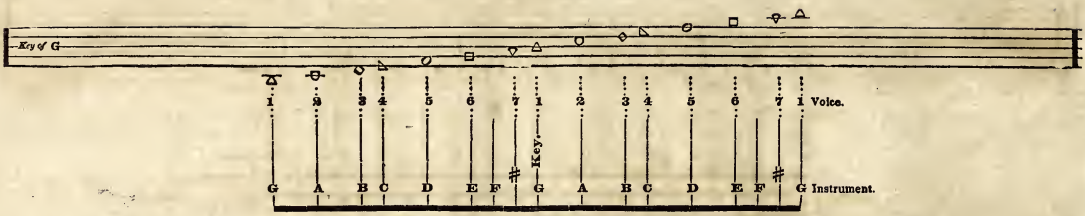
To assist in obtaining with accuracy and fixing in the ear each sound of the scale, seven distinct names are applied to the notes in the octave. In singing the scale, 1 (the key) is called Doe; 2 is called Ray; 3 is called Mee; 4 is called Fâw, (â as in far;) 5 is called Sole; 6 is called Lâw, (â as in far;) and 7 is called See. The same syllable and the same note being always applied to the same number of the scale.

This C scale, and the succeeding scales, should be practised first continuously, and then by skips, as 1, 3, 5, 8;—1, 5;—1, 5, 8;—1, 8, &c., until (the key being given) the pupil can give the sound of any number required, or of any note pointed out on the staff.

QUESTIONS.

How is the pitch of sounds indicated? [Ans. By the position of the notes on the staff.] What is this scale called? What do you understand by the key? What do the numerals under the staff show? [Ans. The natural rise and fall of the voice.] In singing the scale, why use seven syllables? What names are used? Is the same name or syllable always given to the same number? On what line or space is Doe in this scale? On what is Mee? On what is Sole? Sing the scale.

G SCALE.



This is called the G scale, because G is the key or governing sound of the scale.

The natural rise and fall of the voice is the same, whatever may be the key.

Different letters or sounds are taken as the key, in order to produce a greater variety in the combination of sounds.

INSTRUMENTAL.

In this scale G is taken as the key, consequently the voice, which naturally produces the half-intervals between 3 and 4 and between 7 and 8, will produce them between B and C, and between F and G; the half-interval between B and C on the instrument will correspond with the voice between 3 and 4, but the half-interval between E and F will not correspond with the whole-interval between 6 and 7 in the voice. Instruments, therefore, in order to perform this scale, must be constructed so as to produce an intermediate sound between F and G, conforming to the whole-interval between 6 and 7 in the voice.

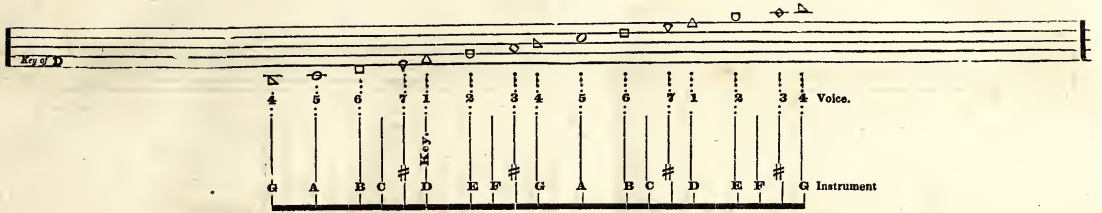
A sound thus raised a half-interval is said to be sharped, marked thus ♯. Hence the rule, ☞ When G is the key, F must be played sharp to form the seventh of the scale. NOTE.—A flat 7th in the key of G is played on F.

QUESTIONS.

What letter or sound is taken as the key in this scale? Does the voice rise and fall from G in this scale precisely as it does from C in the C scale? Why take different letters or sounds as the key? On what line or space is Doe in this scale? On what line or space is Sole? Sing the scale.

Instrumental.—Between what letters do the half-intervals occur in this scale? Does the instrument ascend and descend the octave from G in this scale as it does from C in the C scale? What sound or sounds not introduced in the C scale are required in order to form the scale on G? What letters are performed differently? Why is F played sharp? [Ans. To make the instrument correspond with the voice.] What is meant by F♯? What is the rule for performing this scale?

D SCALE.



In this scale, D is the key or governing sound; it is therefore called the D scale.

The gradation of sounds as produced by the voice is the same whatever may be the key.

INSTRUMENTAL.

In this scale D is assumed as the key.

From D=1 to E=2 is a whole-interval on the instrument. From E=2 to F♯=3 is a whole-interval. From F♯=3 to G=4 is a half-interval. From G=4 to A=5 is a whole-interval. From A=5 to B=6 is a whole-interval. From B=6 to C=7 is a half-interval. But the voice naturally rises a whole-interval from 6 to 7.

Instruments therefore, in order to perform this scale, must, in addition to being capable of making F♯, be constructed so as to make an intermediate sound between C and D called C♯. Then from B=6 to C♯=7 is a whole-interval, and from C♯=7 to D is a half-interval, which completes the octave.

☞ Rule. When D is the key, F and C must be played sharp.

QUESTIONS.

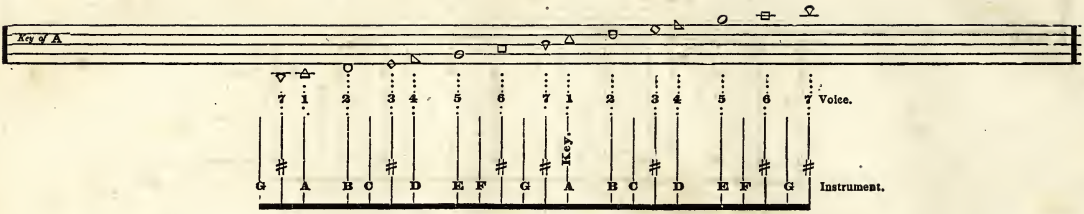
What letter is taken as the key or governing sound in this scale? Does the voice produce the same gradation of sounds when it assumes D as the key, as when it assumes C? What name or syllable is applied to the note on D in this scale? How often does Doe occur in this scale? How often does Faw? Sing the scale?

Instrumental.– Between what letters does the ear require the half-intervals in this scale?

QUESTIONS.

What sounds different from those necessary in the C scale are required to perform this? What letters are required to be performed differently? Why? [Ans. To make the instrument please the ear and correspond with the natural rise and fall of the voice.] What is the rule for performing this scale?

A SCALE.



In this scale, A is the key or governing sound; it is therefore called the A scale.

The voice ascends and descends the octave by the same steps, whatever may be the key.

INSTRUMENTAL.

In this scale A is taken as one, or the key; consequently, as may be seen at once, an additional intermediate sound will be required between G and A.

QUESTIONS.

Why is this called the A scale? What do you understand by the key? On what line or space in this scale is Doe? What name do you give the note on the third line? Sing the scale?

Instrumental.—What sounds additional to those necessary in the C scale are required in Instruments, therefore, in order to perform this scale, must be capable of elevating G a half-interval, or of making G ♯ as well as F and C.

Rule.—☞When A is the key, F, C, and G must be played sharp.

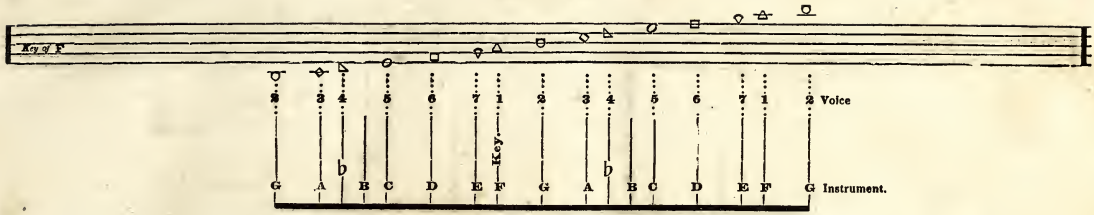
This scale may be performed by assuming A ♭ as the key or governing sound, then observe the following

Rule.—☞When A ♭ is the key, B, E, A, and D must be played flat.

QUESTIONS.

this? Where does the ear require the half-intervals in this scale? What letters are performed differently? What is the rule for performing this scale? What is the second rule? Do the numerals, syllables, and notes occupy the same lines and spaces when this scale is performed with three sharps as with four flats? [Ans. They do.]

F SCALE.



This is called the F scale, because F is the key or governing sound of the scale.

The natural rise and fall of the voice is always the same.

INSTRUMENTAL.

In this scale F is taken as the key. F is 1. From F to G is a whole-interval—from G to A is a whole-interval. From A to B is a whole-interval; but this will not correspond with the voice, which naturally rises and falls a half-interval between 3 and 4. We must therefore have an intermediate sound between A and B, called B flat—marked thus ♭.

Rule.—☞ When F is the key, B must be played flat to form the fourth of the scale.

NOTE.—A sharp 4th in the key of F is played on B.

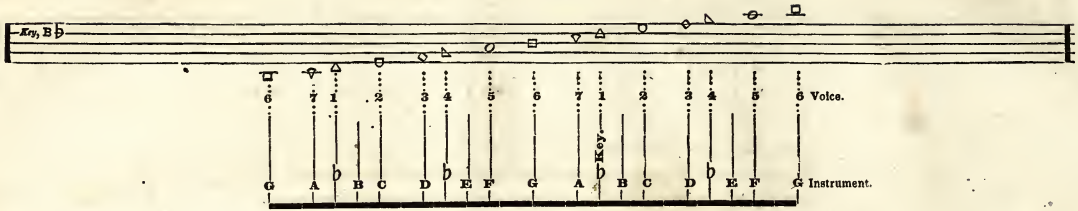
QUESTIONS.

What letter is the governing sound in the ear and voice in this scale? Does the voice rise and fall from F in this scale as it does from C in the C scale? Where is Doe in this scale? On what line or space is Sole? Sing the scale.

QUESTIONS.

Instrumental.—What sound or sounds besides those introduced in the C scale are required to perform this? What letter is to be performed differently? When a letter is performed a half-interval lower what is it called? What is the rule for performing this scale?

B♭ SCALE.



In this scale, B flat is the key or governing sound; it is therefore called the B♭ scale.

The voice naturally rises and falls by the same intervals, whatever may be the pitch of the key.

INSTRUMENTAL.

In this scale B♭ is taken as the key or governing sound. And to perform this scale an intermediate sound between D and E is required, called E♭.

Rule.—☞ When the key or governing sound is B♭, B and E must be played flat in every octave.

[NOTE.—This scale is played with B♭ and E♭ as a convenience to the instrumental performer.

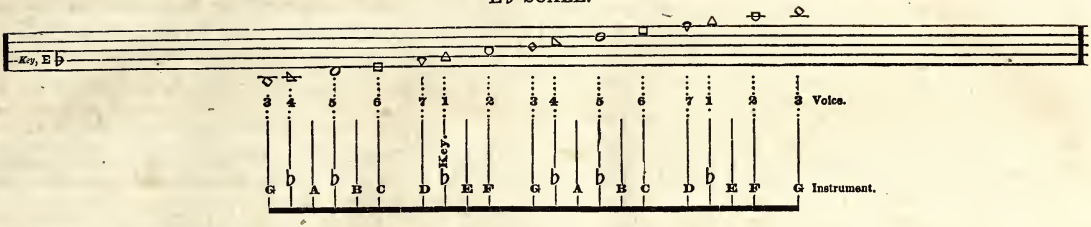
Take B as the key or governing sound, and it will be necessary to play five sharps, in order to make the instrument correspond with the natural rise and fall of the voice.]

QUESTIONS.

On what line or space is Doe in this scale? What note is on the second line and first space above? How many times does Doe occur in this scale? What is the name of the note on the added line above? Sing the scale.

Instrumental.—What is the pitch of the key in this scale? Does the inst. ascend or descend the octave by the same degrees from B♭ as it does from the key of C? What sounds different from those in the C scale are required to perform this scale? [Ans. Intermediate sounds between A and B and between D and E.] What letters are performed differently? What is the rule for performing this scale?

E♭ SCALE.



In this scale, E flat is the key or governing sound; it is therefore called the E♭ scale.

The voice rises and falls by the same intervals, whatever may be the pitch of the key.

In the preceding scales, the key-note, Doe, has been so varied as to occupy every letter on the staff.

INSTRUMENTAL.

In this scale the pitch assumed is E♭. To perform this scale no additional sound is required different from those in the preceding scales. A must be played flat, but G♯ has been already introduced and is precisely the same sound.

Rule.—☞ When the key or governing sound is E♭,—B, E, and A must be played flat.

This scale may be performed by assuming E as the key or governing sound, then observe the following

Rule.—☞ When E is the key, F, C, G and D must be played sharp.

Instruments, in order to perform the scale based on every letter, must, it is evident, be constructed upon a scale of half-intervals. Accordingly all correct instruments are so made.

QUESTIONS.

Is the natural rise and fall of the voice always the same, whatever may be the pitch of the key? In the preceding scales has the key-note been on every letter on the staff? Why are only seven letters used? [Ans. Because seven are all that can be used on an instrument, which limits seven to the staff.] What is the use of taking different letters or sounds as the key? [Ans. It produces a greater variety in the combination of sounds.] Is it easier or more natural to sing in one scale than another? On what line or space is Doe in this scale? Is the syllable Doe always applied to the key or governing sound? What syllable is always applied to the 3d sound of the scale? What to the 5th? What to the 7th? What to the 2d? Sing the scale.

QUESTIONS.

Instrumental.—What is the key or governing sound of this scale? Is any sound different from those already introduced necessary to perform this scale? Is Ab the same as G♯? Is the sharp of any letter the same as the flat of the one next above it? What sounds different from those in the C scale are necessary to perform this? [Ans. An intermediate sound between A and B, D and E, G and A.] What letters must be performed differently? What is the rule for performing this scale? Must an instrument be constructed upon a scale of half-intervals, in order to perform the scale based on every letter? Can instruments thus made perform this scale of notes by assuming E as the key? What is the rule? Do the numerals, syllables, and notes occupy the same lines and spaces when this scale is performed with three flats as with four sharps? [Ans. They do.]

SECOND DEPARTMENT.—LENGTH.

THE consideration of the length of sounds naturally follows that of pitch. The first question in regard to notes is, What sounds do they represent? Or what is their pitch? The second question is, How long are these sounds to be continued?

We have heretofore considered sounds in reference only to their pitch, and their relation to each other as high or low.

The pitch of sounds is not affected by their length. The same sounds, of whatever pitch, may be continued for a longer or shorter time.

The notes (Doe, Ray, Mee, Faw, Sole, Law, See) which represent pitch, also represent length, by adding a stem, &c., as in the following illustration:

These notes represent five varieties of length, each having its appropriate name expressive of its relative length.

A dot (·) adds to a note one half its length.

Thus, a dotted half-note is equal to three quarters or

A dotted quarter is equal to three eighths or

It should be observed that these notes, whole, half, quarter, &c., do not indicate the positive, but only the relative length of the sounds which they represent. Thus, if the whole note be considered as representing a sound to be continued four seconds, the half-note must have two seconds; the quarter, one second; the eighth, half a second; the sixteenth, the fourth of a second; and the dotted whole note, six seconds; the dotted quarter one second and a half.

Or if to the quarter be given two seconds, the half-note must be four, the whole note eight, the dotted quarter three seconds, &c., each note claiming its relative length in comparison with the others.

The time occupied in the performance of a piece of music, or of any particular passage, is governed by the nature of the music or the character of the sentiment; according to the taste, judgment, or habit of the performer.

A general idea of the movement of a tune, or of a particular passage, is suggested by the use of the following terms, viz.: Moderate—slow—very slow—lively—very lively, &c.

Measures.—To regulate the time, and to preserve equability throughout, written music is divided into equal portions called measures.

Bars.—The measures are marked off by straight lines drawn across the staff, which are called bars.

Each measure, or portion between the bars, must occupy the same time in the performance, whatever may be the number of the notes.

Measures are divided into smaller portions, called parts of measures There are two kinds of measures, equal and unequal.

A measure with two parts is called equal measure.

A measure with three parts is called unequal measure.

Music written with equal measure is in equal time, and is marked $\frac{2}{4}$ because two half-notes constitute a measure.

Music written with unequal measure is in unequal time, and is marked $\frac{3}{2}$ because three half-notes constitute a measure.

The unequal measure is sometimes doubled, and forms what is called compound time. It is marked $\frac{6}{4}$ because six quarter-notes constitute a measure.

QUESTIONS.

What is the first consideration in regard to sounds? What is the second? Are we now to consider the same high and low sounds as long or short? Does the pitch of a sound affect its length? How is the length of sounds designated? How many kinds of notes are used? What are their names? What one note is equal to two halves? What note is equal to two quarters? What note is equal to two quarters and four eighths, &c.? Have notes any positive length? How then? What is to be our guide as to the time to be occupied in singing a piece of music? How is an idea of the time suggested? What are measures? For what are they used? What are bars? How are measures divided? How many kinds of measures are there? What is equal measure? What is unequal measure? How is a quarter note known from an eighth? [Ans. The eighth has one mark on the stem.]

To aid in the computation and equal division of the time, certain regular motions of the hand are made; this is called beating time.

Equal measure has two beats, one to each part of a measure; the first down, the second up.

Unequal measure has three beats, one to each part of a measure; the first down, the second horizontally, to the left, the third up.

Compound time has two beats to the measure, with three quarter-notes, or their value, to each beat.

Rule.—☞ The downward beat always begins the measure.

Rests.—There are five different rests, or marks of silence, corresponding in time to the five different kinds of notes, as follows:

A dot (·) adds to a rest one half its length.

A pause (𝄐) is sometimes used. The notes over or under which it is written are to be prolonged indefinitely at the pleasure of the performer.

Staccato.—When a note or several notes are to be performed in a short, pointed and distinct manner, the staccato (!) is used.

Slur.—When one syllable of poetry is to be applied to two or more notes, a slur is drawn over or under them, or the stems of the notes are connected.

Thus:

Tripletts.—When three notes are to be performed in the time of two of the same nominal value, the figure 3 is written over or under them.

Thus  equal to  or  equal to Repeat.—A passage to be repeated is embraced between two dotted lines across the staff.

Thus:

A double bar ( ) shows the end of a strain of the music, or of a line of the poetry.

PRACTICAL EXERCISES.

EQUAL TIME.

UNEQUAL TIME.

QUESTIONS.

What is the use of beating time? How many beats has equal time? How many has unequal? In what part of the measure does the hand descend in beating time? What are rests? How many are used? For what is the pause used? For what is the staccato used?

QUESTIONS.

What is the use of a slur? What effect is intended by the figure 3 over or under three notes? When a passage is to be repeated, what sign is used? What is the use of the double bar? What is the sign of equal time? What of unequal time?

THIRD DEPARTMENT.—Force.

Musical sounds may be loud, very loud, soft, very soft, moderate, or ordinary as to force, without effecting their pitch or length.

Medium.—A sound produced by the ordinary action of the organs of voice or of an instrument is a medium sound, and is marked m.

Piano.—A sound produced by the vocal organs, somewhat restrained, is a soft sound ; it is called piano, and is marked p.

Pianissimo.—A sound produced by a very slight exertion of the vocal organs, yet so as to be distinctly audible, is called pianissimo, and is marked pp.

Forte.—A loud sound called forte is produced by a strong and full exertion of the vocal organs. It is marked f.

Fortissimo.—A very loud sound is called fortissimo; it must not be attempted beyond the power of the vocal organs so as to degenerate into a scream. It is marked ff.

Accent.—General rules. 1st. The first note in every measure must be accented.

2d. When there is more than one note to a beat, the first is accented.

3d. In unequal time, when the measure is filled with two quarters and two half-notes, the first half-note is accented.

Organ sounds.—A sound which is commenced, continued, and ended with an equal degree of force is called an organ sound.

Diminishing sound.—A sound commencing loud, and gradually diminished until it becomes soft, is marked thus >.

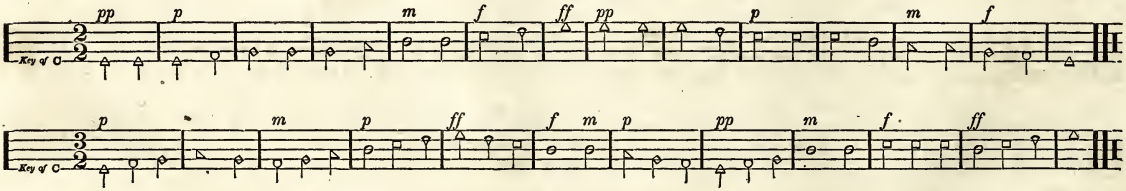
Increasing sound.—A sound commencing soft, and gradually increased until it becomes loud, is marked thus <.

Swell.—A sound commencing soft and gradually increased till it becomes loud, then diminished till it becomes soft, is marked thus <>.

Pressure tone.—A very sudden swell is marked thus <>.

Explosive tone.—When a sound is to be struck with very great force, and instantly diminished, it is marked thus >.

PRACTICAL EXERCISES.



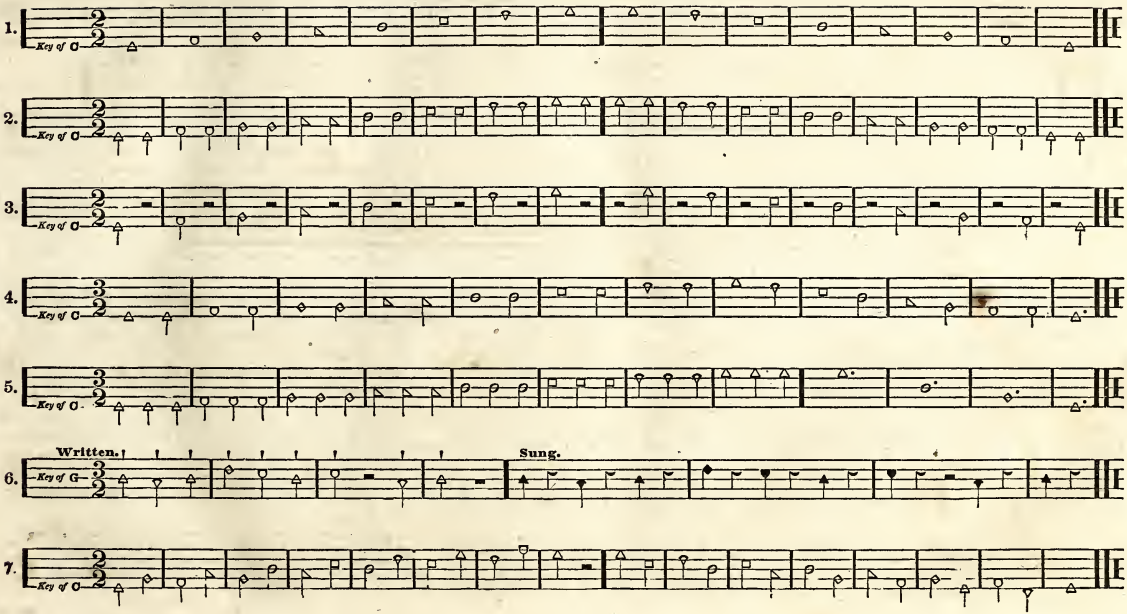
QUESTIONS.

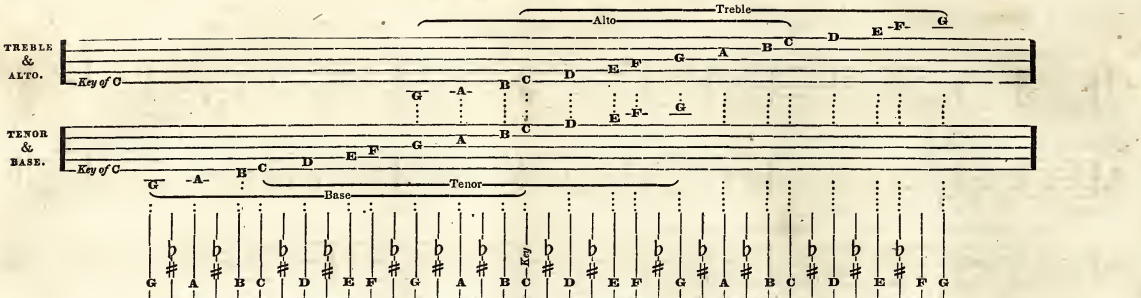
How are musical sounds distinguished in regard to force? What letter is used to signify medium? What letter is used to signify soft? What letter is used to signify very soft?

QUESTIONS.

What does f signify? What does ff signify? What is the first rule for accent? What is the second rule? What is the third rule? What is an organ sound?

PRACTICAL EXERCISES.





In the preceding scales, we have already seen that an instrument, in order to perform tunes written in all the various keys, must be constructed upon a scale of half-intervals.

But this figure in connection with the staff, &c., is introduced with a view of illustrating the relations of the different voices.

The human voice is divided into four classes. The treble or highest voice of females, the alto or lowest voice of females. The tenor or highest voice of males, and the base or lowest voice of males. The brackets above and below the staffs show the range of sounds from which the different parts are ordinarily written.

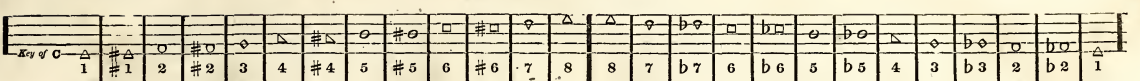
The sound called G on instruments is about the centre of the compass of the voice; it is, therefore, written on the middle of the staff, and the other sounds or letters located accordingly. It must be remembered, however, that the voice of boys—which corresponds with that of females, and is classed with the alto—undergoes a change before they arrive at maturity, and is depressed an entire octave. The voice after the change is on the tenor and base staff.

On referring to the tunes, it will be seen that the music for the four classes of voices is written on four staffs, marked base, treble, alto, and tenor. The G on the middle line of the base and the tenor staffs, representing the centre of the ordinary compass of the voice of males, is an octave lower than G on the treble and alto staffs. Performers on the organ, piano-forte, melodeon, &c., should not forget that the notes written upon the base and tenor staffs are to be played an octave lower than the notes written upon the treble and alto staffs. Instruments must have a compass of at least three octaves, to embrace these voices, or to play two octaves of written music.

QUESTIONS.—Into how many classes of sounds is the human voice divided? Why is the letter G placed on the third or middle line of the staff? What is the relation of the male voice to that of the female? [Ans. The male voice after the change is an octave lower.] Does an instrument require three octaves to play two octaves of written music?

NOTE.—Instruments may be constructed or tuned to different sounds. For example, the German flute is based upon D, some of the clarinets upon B♭, and others upon E♭. The church organ, piano-forte, and several other leading instruments are constructed or tuned to the sound called C. This key, or scale, is therefore called natural to instruments, and is made the universal standard of reference and comparison.

CHROMATIC SCALE.



It is proved by instruments that the less intervals which occur between 3 and 4, and between 7 and 8, are precisely half as great as those which occur between the other sounds of the octave.

Now between the other sounds of the octave it has been found by experience that the voice, by an effort, may produce intermediate sounds. Thus intermediate sounds may be produced between 1 and 2, 2 and 3, 4 and 5, 5 and 6, and between 6 and 7; but not between 3 and 4, and 7 and 8, because the intervals between those sounds are naturally half-intervals, and no smaller interval is practicable.

The notes representing intermediate sounds may be written on the same line or space of the staff with either of the notes between which they occur. Thus, the note representing the sound between 1 and 2 may be written on the same line or space with either of those notes. 1 may be elevated a half-interval, or 2 may be depressed a half-interval, and the same sound will be produced.

If it is proposed to elevate the lower sound, a ♯ is used, and the sound is called a sharp 1st, a sharp 4th, &c.

If it is proposed to depress the upper sound, a ♭, (the sign of depression,) is used, and the sound is called a flat 3d, a flat 7th, &c.

☞A sharp (♯) elevates the pitch of a note a half-interval.

☞A flat (♭) depresses the pitch of a note a half-interval.

In the application of names to the intermediate sounds, the voice is assisted in producing the proper elevation or depression by changing the vowel sound of the syllable used. Thus when a sharp occurs before Doe, Ray, Faw, &c., these syllables should be pronounced Dee, Ree, Fee, &c. When a flat occurs before a note, the intermediate sound should be attempted by pronouncing See, Mee, &c. thus, Say, May, &c.

In attempting to sing this scale, it will be difficult to obtain the artificial sounds perfectly without the aid of an instrument.

In the practice, therefore, an instrument should always be introduced as a guide, that shall give the intermediate sounds with accuracy and certainty.

In the preceding scales the key has been so varied as to occupy every letter on the staff and every variety of high and low sounds exhibited, requiring only to extend the scales higher and lower in order to reach the widest range of instruments. From these scales all music is written, of whatever character, and from them every possible combination of sounds may be made.

NOTE.—A tune may be written upon two or more scales; that is, a piece of music may commence in one key, and during its progress be changed into another key, which is called modulation. When the change is continued several measures, the syllables should be changed, (see page 332,) but when the change is made for one or two notes only, the ♯4th, or ♭7th, &c., should be introduced; hence the necessity of singers practising the chromatic scale.

QUESTIONS.

How is it proved that the less intervals are half as great as the whole-intervals? Between what numbers of the octave may the voice produce intermediate sounds? Are the intervals thus produced natural? Why may we not have intermediate sounds between 3 and 4, and between 7 and 8? What is a Chromatic scale? [Ans. A scale of half-intervals.] How are intermediate sounds written on the staff? What character is a sign of elevation? What is the sign of depression? Where a note appears on the staff with a ♯ prefixed, how is it to be sung? How when a ♭ is prefixed? Is it any advantage in singing sharped or flatted notes to change the pronunciation of the syllables? What change is recommended?

Instrumental.—When a note appears on the staff with a ♯ prefixed, how is it to be played? [Ans. The sound is to be raised a half-interval in the key in which the tune is written.] When a ♭ how? [Ans. The sound is to be lowered a half-interval in the key in which the tune is written.] When a ♯ 4th occurs in the key of F, how is it to be played? [Ans. On B.] When a ♭ 7th occurs in the key of G, how is it to be played? [Ans. On F.]

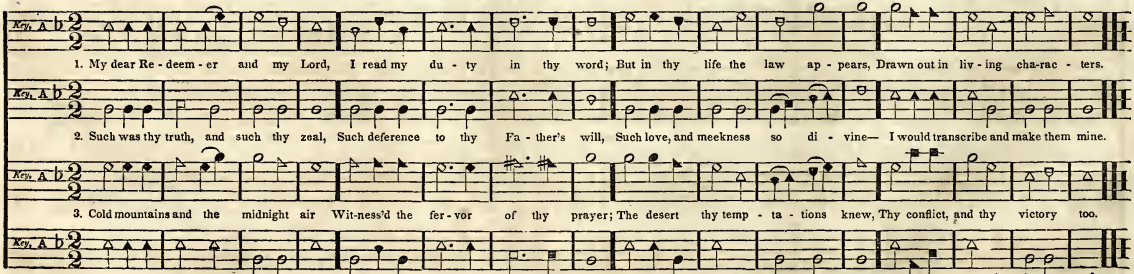
NEW SABBATH. L. M.

ISAAC SMITH.

Key of D
1. For thee, O God, our con-stant praise In Zi-on waits, thy cho-sen seat; Our promised al-tars there we'll raise, And there our zeal-ous vows complete.
2. Thou! who to ev'-ry hum-ble prayer Dost al-ways bend thy list'ning ear, To thee shall all man-kind re-pair, And at thy gra-cious throne ap-pear.
3. Our sins, though num-ber-less, in vain To stop thy flow-ing mer-cy try; Whilst thou o'erlook'st the guilty stain, And wash-est out the crim-son dye.
4. Blest is the man, who, near the place, With-in thy sa-cred dwell-ing lives! 'Tis there abundant-ly we taste The vast de-lights thy tem-ple gives

FEDERAL STREET. L. M.

H. K. OLIVER.



Key, A♭
1. My dear Re-deem-er and my Lord, I read my du-ty in thy word; But in thy life the law ap-pears, Drawn out in liv-ing cha-rac-ters.
2. Such was thy truth, and such thy zeal, Such deference to thy Fa-ther's will, Such love, and meekness so di-vine— I would transcribe and make them mine.
3. Cold mountains and the midnight air Wit-ness'd the fer-vor of thy prayer; The desert thy temp-ta-tions knew, Thy conflict, and thy victory too.
4 Be thou my pat-tern; make me bear More of thy gra-cious im-age here; Then God, the Judge, shall own my name Among the followers of the Lamb.

Key of D
1. The spacious fir - ma-ment on high, With all the blue e - the - real sky, And spangled heav'ns, a shining frame, Their great O - ri - gi - nal pro - claim.
3. Soon as the ev'ning shades pre - vail, The moon takes up the wondrous tale, And night - ly, to the list'ning earth, Repeats the sto - ry of her birth,
5. What though in solemn silence all Move round this dark ter - res-trial ball, What though no re - al voice, or sound A - mid their radiant orbs be found,
2. Th'unwearied sun, from day to day, Does his Cre - a - tor's power dis - play, And pub - lish - es, to ev' - ry land, The work of an al - migh - ty hand.
4. While all the stars that round her burn, And all the planets, in their turn, Con - firm the ti-dings, as they roll, And spread the truth from pole to pole.
6. In reason's ear they all re - joice, And ut - ter forth a glorious voice; For ev - er singing as they shine, "The hand that made us is di - vine.

UPTON. L. M.

Key of A
1. My God, in whom are all the springs Of boundless love, and grace unknown, Hide me beneath thy spreading wings, Till the dark cloud be o - ver - blown.
2. Up to the heav'ns I send my cry; The Lord will my de - sires per - form; He sent his an-gels from the sky, And saves me from the threat'ning storm.
3. Be thou ex - alt - ed, O my God, A - bove the heav'ns where angels dwell; Thy power on earth be known a - broad, And land to land thy won-ders tell.
4. My heart is fix'd; my song shall raise Im - mor-tal honours to thy Name; A - wake, my tongue, to sound his praise; My tongue, the glory of my frame.
5. High o'er the earth his mer - cy reigns, And reaches to the ut - most sky; His truth to endless years re - mains, When lower worlds dissolve and die.

ATLANTIC. L. M.

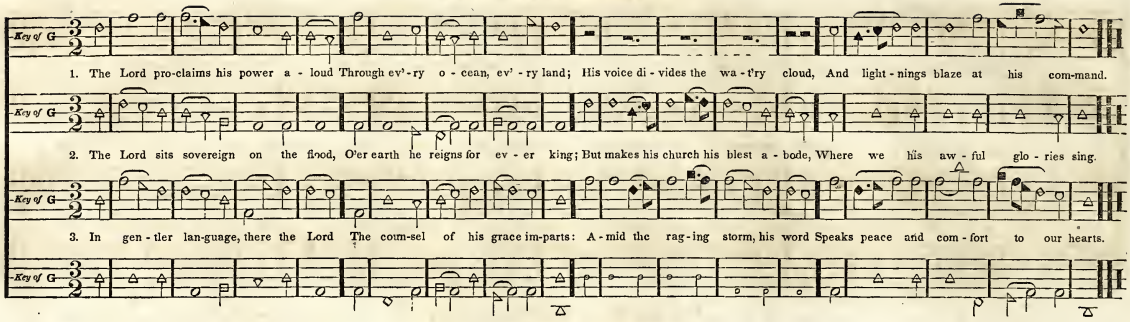
2. The light of truth to us dis - play, And make us know and choose thy way; Plant ho - ly fear in ev' - ry heart, That we from God may not de - part.
3. Lead us to ho - li - ness,—the road That we must take to dwell with God; Lead us to Christ, the liv - ing way, Nor let us from his pre - cepts stray.
4. Lead us to God, our fi - nal rest, in his en - joy - ment to be blest; Lead us to heav'n, the seat of bliss, Where pleasure in per - fec - tion is

MEROM. L. M.

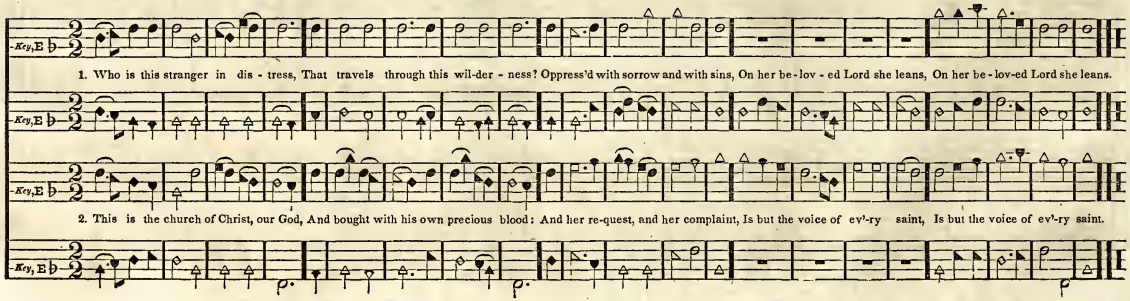
Slow.
Key of C
1. 'Twas on that dark, that dole - ful night, When pow'rs of earth and hell a - rose A - gainst the Son of God's de - light, And friends betray'd him to his foes;—
2. Be - fore the mourn - ful scene be - gan, He took the bread, and bless'd, and brake: What love through all his actions ran! What wondrous words of grace he spoke.
3. "This is my ho - dy, broke for sin; Re-ceive and eat the liv-ing food;" Then took the cup and bless'd the wine; "'Tis the new covenant in my blood."
4 "Do this," he cried, "till time shall end, In mem'ry of your dy - ing friend; Meet at my ta - ble, and re - cord The love of your de - part - ed Lord."
5 Je - sus, thy feast we ce - le - brate, We show thy death, we sing thy name, Till thou re-turn, and we shall eat The marriage sup - per of the Lamb.

EFFINGHAM. L. M.



Key of G
1. The Lord pro-claims his power a - loud Through ev'-ry o - cean, ev' - ry land; His voice di - vides the wa - t'ry cloud, And light - nings blaze at his com-mand.
2. The Lord sits sovereign on the flood, O'er earth he reigns for ev - er king; But makes his church his blest a - bode, Where we his aw - ful glo - ries sing.
3. In gen - tler lan-guage, there the Lord The com-sel of his grace im-parts: A - mid the rag - ing storm, his word Speaks peace and com - fort to our hearts.

QUITO. L. M.



Key, E♭
1. Who is this stranger in dis - tress, That travels through this wil-der - ness? Oppress'd with sorrow and with sins, On her be - lov - ed Lord she leans, On her be - lov-ed Lord she leans.
2. This is the church of Christ, our God, And bought with his own precious blood: And her re-quest, and her complaint, Is but the voice of ev'-ry saint, Is but the voice of ev'-ry saint.

HAMBURG. L. M.

From a Gregorian Chant.

Key of E
1. Kingdoms and thrones to God be - long; Crown him, ye nations, in your song: His wondrous name and pow'r re - hearse; His honours shall en - rich your verse.
2. He rides and thun - ders through the sky, His name, Je-ho - vah, sounds on high: Praise him aloud ye sons of grace; Ye saints, re - joice before his face.
3. God is our shield, our joy, our rest; God is our King—pro - claim him blest: When terrors rise, when na - tions faint, He is the strength of ev' - ry saint.

HARMONY GROVE. L. M.

H. K. OLIVER.

Key of A
1. God, in the gos-pel of his Son, Makes his e - ter - nal counsels known; Where love in all its glory shines, And truth is drawn in fairest lines.
2. Here sinners of an humble frame May taste his grace, and learn his name; May read, in characters of blood, The wisdom, pow'r, and grace of God.
3. The pris'ner here may break his chains, The weary rest from all his pains, The captive feel his bondage cease, The mourner find the way of peace.
4. Here faith re - veals to mortal eyes A brighter world be-yond the skies; Here shines the light which guides our way From earth to realms of endless day.
5 Oh grant us grace, Al - mighty Lord, To read and mark thy ho - ly word; Its truth with meekness to re - ceive, And by its ho - ly precepts live.

CREATION. L. M.

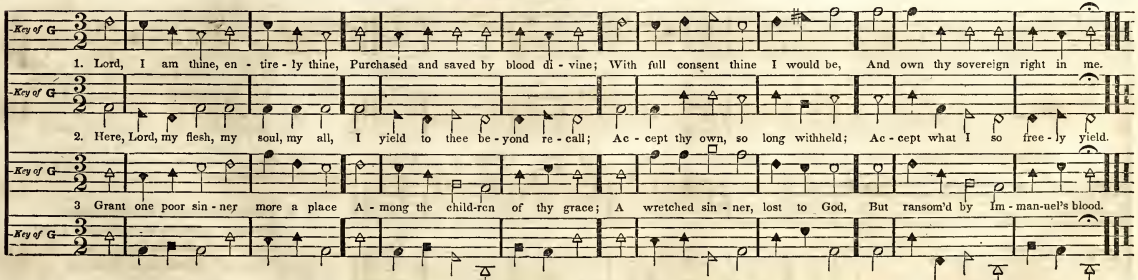
HAYDN.

Key, B♭
1. From all that dwell be - low the skies, Let the Cre - a - tor's praise a - rise; Let the Re- deemer's name be sung,
2. E - ter - nal are thy mer - cies, Lord; E - ter - nal truth at - tends thy word; Thy praise shall sound from shore to shore,
Through ev' - ry land, by ev' - ry tongue, Let the Re - deem - er's name be sung, Through ev' - ry land by ev' - ry tongue.
Till suns shall rise and set no more, Thy praise shall sound from shore to shore, Till suns shall rise and set no more.

UXBRIDGE. L. M.

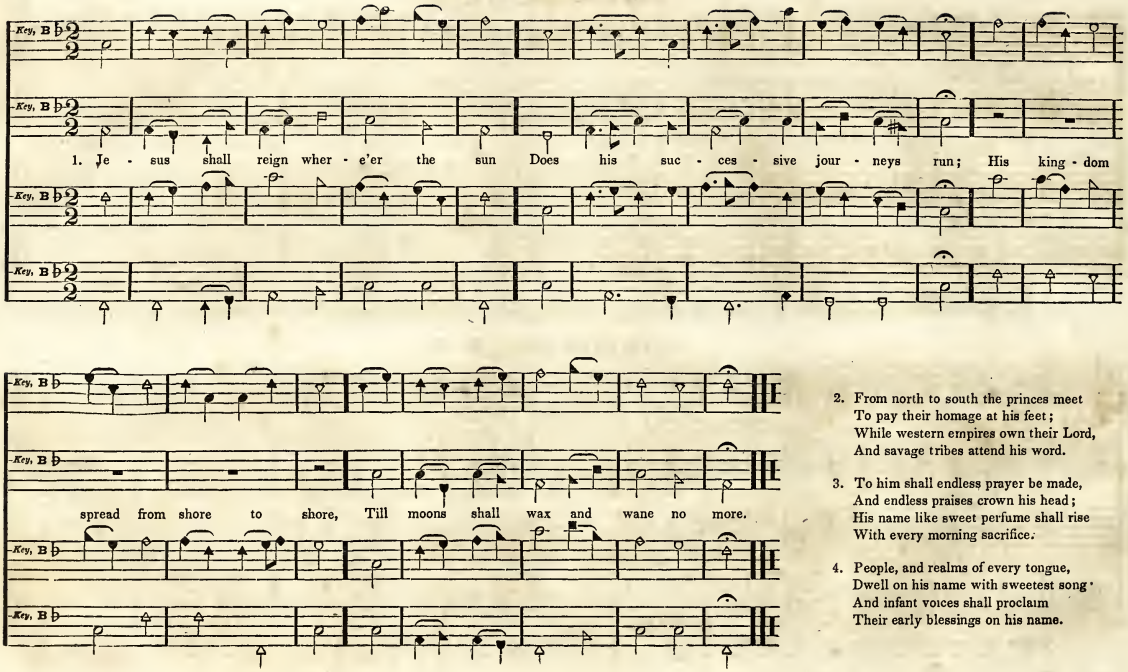
Key of F
1. The heav'ns declare thy glo - ry, Lord; In ev' - ry star thy wis - dom shines; But when our eyes be - hold thy word, We read thy name in fair - er lines.
2. The roll - ing sun, the changing light, And nights and days thy power con - fess; But the blest volume thou hast writ Re - veals thy justice and thy grace.
3. Sun, moon, and stars convey thy praise Round the whole earth, and nev-er stand; So when thy truth be - gan its race, It touch'd and glanced on ev' - ry land.
4. Nor shall thy spreading gos - pel rest, Till through the world thy truth has run; Till Christ has all the na-tions bless'd, That see the light, or feel the sun.
5. Great Sun of Righteousness, a - rise; Bless the dark world with heav'nly light; Thy gos - pel makes the sim - ple wise, Thy laws are pure, thy judgments right.
6. Thy no-blest wonders here we view, In souls renew'd, and sins for - given; Lord, cleanse my sins, my soul re - new, And make thy word my guide to heav'n.

ROCKINGHAM. L. M.



Key of G
1. Lord, I am thine, en - tire - ly thine, Purchased and saved by blood di - vine; With full consent thine I would be, And own thy sovereign right in me.
2. Here, Lord, my flesh, my soul, my all, I yield to thee be - yond re - call; Ac - cept thy own, so long withheld; Ac - cept what I so free - ly yield.
3 Grant one poor sin - ner more a place A - mong the child-ren of thy grace; A wretched sin - ner, lost to God, But ransom'd by Im - man-uel's blood.
4. Thee my new Mas ter, now I call, And con - se - crate to thee my all; Thine would I live, thine would I die, Be thine through all e - ter - ni - ty.
5. Do thou as - sist a fee - ble worm The great en - gage-ment to per - form: Thy grace can full as - sist-ance lend, And on that grace I dare de - pend.

BRIMFIELD. L. M.



Key, B♭
1. Je - sus shall reign wher - e'er the sun Does his suc - ces - sive jour - neys run; His king - dom spread from shore to shore, Till moons shall wax and wane no more.

2. From north to south the princes meet
To pay their homage at his feet;
While western empires own their Lord,
And savage tribes attend his word.

3. To him shall endless prayer be made,
And endless praises crown his head;
His name like sweet perfume shall rise
With every morning sacrifice.

4. People, and realms of every tongue,
Dwell on his name with sweetest song
And infant voices shall proclaim
Their early blessings on his name.

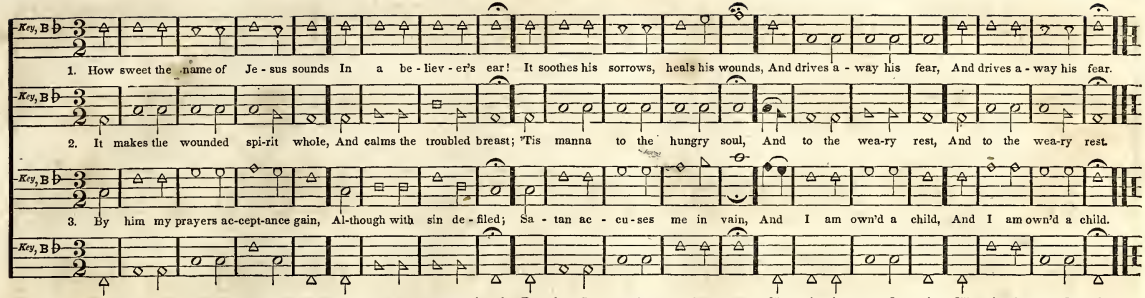
MODERATE.
Key, B♭
1. How pleasant, how di - vine - ly fair, O Lord of hosts, thy dwellings are! With long de-sire my spi - rit faints, To meet th' as-sem-bly of thy saints.
3. Blest are the saints who sit on high, Around thy throne a-bove the sky; Thy brightest glories shine a-bove, And all their work is praise and love.
5. Blest are the men whose hearts are set, To find the way to Zi - on's gate: God is their strength, and through the road, They lean up-on their helper, God.
2. My flesh would rest in thine a - bode: My panting heart cries out for God: My God, my King, why should I be So far from all my joys and thee.
4. Blest are the souls, who find a place With-in the temple of thy grace; There they behold thy gentler rays, And seek thy face, and learn thy praise.
6. Cheerful they walk with growing strength, Till all shall meet in heav'n at length: Till all be-fore thy face ap-pear, And join in no - bler wor - ship there.

ORTONVILLE. C. M.



Key, B♭
1. How sweet the name of Je - sus sounds In a be - liev - er's ear! It soothes his sorrows, heals his wounds, And drives a - way his fear, And drives a - way his fear.
2. It makes the wounded spi-rit whole, And calms the troubled breast; 'Tis manna to the hungry soul, And to the wea-ry rest, And to the wea-ry rest.
3. By him my prayers ac-cept-ance gain, Al-though with sin de - filed; Sa - tan ac - cu - ses me in vain, And I am own'd a child, And I am own'd a child.
4. Weak is the ef-fort of my heart, And cold my warmest thought; But when I see thee as thou art, I'll praise thee as I ought, I'll praise thee as I ought.
5. Till then I would thy love pro-claim With ev' - ry fleet -ting breath; And may the mu - sic of thy name Re - fresh my soul in death, Re - fresh my soul in death.

view I'm lost In won - der, love, and praise.

2. Unnumber'd comforts on my soul
Thy tender care bestow'd,
Before my infant heart conceived
From whom those comforts flow'd.

3. When in the slippery paths of youth
With heedless steps I ran,
Thy arm, unseen, convey'd me safe,
And led me up to man.

4. Ten thousand thousand precious gifts
My daily thanks employ;
Nor is the least a cheerful heart,
That tastes those gifts with joy.

5. Through every period of my life,
Thy goodness I'll pursue;
And after death, in distant worlds,
The glorious theme renew.

6. Through all eternity, to thee
A joyful song I'll raise:
But oh, eternity's too short
To utter all thy praise.

You are the fair whom I love best,
Consent to wed me

WOODSTOCK. C. M.

CAMBRIDGE. C. M.

DR. RANDALL.

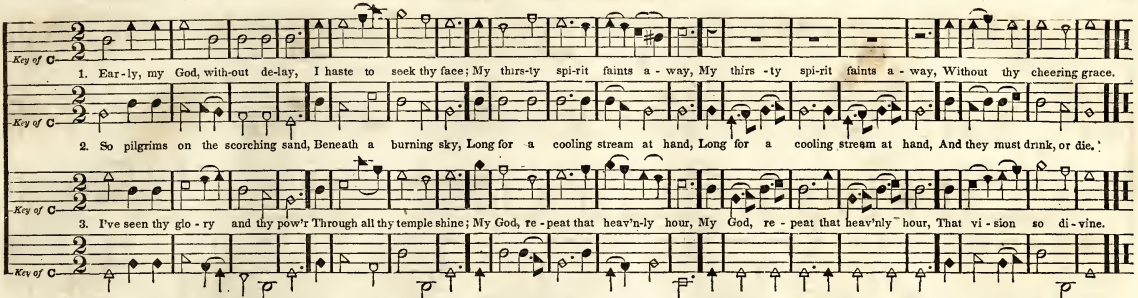
Key, B♭
1. What shall I ren-der to my God, For all his kindness shown? My feet shall vis-it thine a-bode, My songs address thy throne, My songs address thy throne, My songs address thy throne.
2. Among the saints who fill thy house, My off'ring shall be paid: There shall my zeal perform the vows My soul in anguish made, My soul in anguish made, My soul in anguish made.
3. How much is mercy thy delight, Thou ev-er-bless-ed God! How dear thy servants in thy sight! How precious is their blood, How precious is their blood, How precious is their blood!
4. How happy all thy servants are! How great thy grace to me! My life, which thou hast made thy care, Lord, I devote to thee, Lord, I devote to thee, Lord, I de-vote to thee!

SWANWICK. C. M.

LUCAS.

Key, B♭
1. f A-rise, ye peo-ple, and a-dore, Ex-ult-ing strike the chord; Let all the earth, from shore to shore, Con-fess th' al-might-y Lord, Con-fess th' al-might-y Lord.
2. Glad shouts a-loud—wide echoing round, Th' as-cend-ing God proclaim; Th' angel-ic choir re-spond the sound, And shake cre-a-tion's frame, And shake cre-a-tion's frame.
3. They sing of death and hell o'erthrown, In that tri-umph-ant hour; And God ex-alts his conquering Son, To his right hand of pow'r, To his right hand of pow'r.
4. Oh shout, ye peo-ple, and a-dore, Ex-ult-ing strike the chord; Let all the earth, from shore to shore, Con-fess th' al-might-y Lord, Con-fess th' al-might-y Lord.

LANESBORO'. C. M.



Key of C
1. Ear-ly, my God, with-out de-lay, I haste to seek thy face; My thirs-ty spi-rit faints a-way, My thirs-ty spi-rit faints a-way, Without thy cheering grace.
2. So pilgrims on the scorching sand, Beneath a burning sky, Long for a cooling stream at hand, Long for a cooling stream at hand, And they must drink, or die.
3. I've seen thy glo-ry and thy pow'r Through all thy temple shine; My God, re-peat that heav'n-ly hour, My God, re-peat that heav'nly hour, That vi-sion so di-vine.
4. Not all the blessings of a feast Can please my soul so well, As when thy rich-er grace I taste, As when thy rich-er grace I taste, And in thy presence dwell.
5. Not life it-self, with all its joys, Can my best passions move, Or raise so high my cheer-ful voice, Or raise so high my cheer-ful voice, As thy for-giv-ing love.
6. Thus, till my last ex-pir-ing day, I'll bless my God and King; Thus will I lift my hands to pray, Thus will I lift my hands to pray, And tune my lips to sing.

BANGOR. C. M.

RAVENSCROFT.

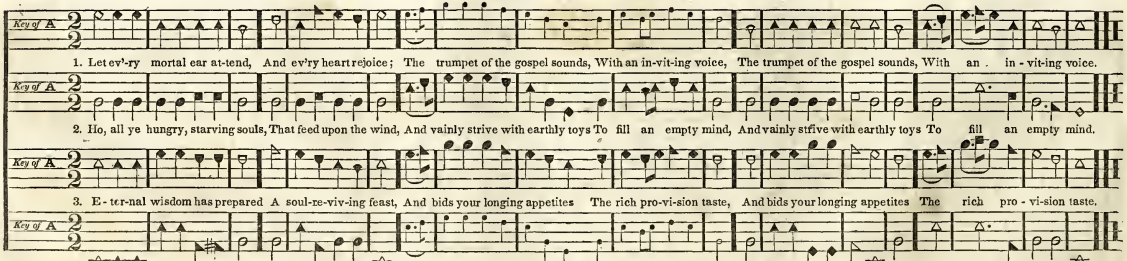
1. Thee we a - dore, E - ter - nal Name, And hum - bly own to thee How fee - ble is our mor - tal frame, What dy - ing worms are we.
2. The year rolls round, and steals a - way The breath that first it gave; What - e'er we do, where - e'er we be, We're travelling to the grave.
3. Dan - gers stand thick through all the ground, To push us to the tomb; And fierce dis - eas - es wait a - round, To hur - ry mor - tals home.
4. Great God, on what a slen - der thread Hang ev - er - last - ing things! Th'e - ter - nal state of all the dead Up - on life's fee ble strings
5. In - fi - nite joy or end - less wo At - tends on ev' - ry breath; And yet now un' - con - cern'd we go, Up - on the brink of death:
6. Wa - ken, O Lord, our drow - sy sense, To walk this dangerous road; And if our souls are hur - ried hence, May they be found with God.

CONWAY. C. M.

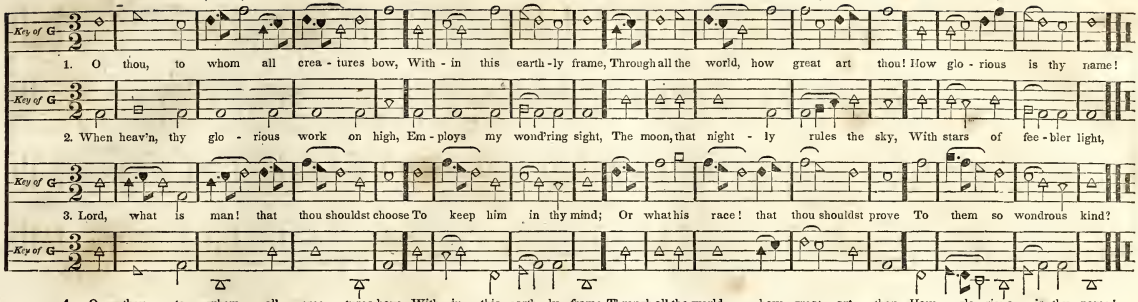
Key of D
1. Come, let us lift our joy - ful eyes Up to the courts a - bove, And smile to see our Fa - ther there, And smile to see our Father there, Up - on a throne of love.
2. Come, let us bow be - fore his feet, And ven-ture near the Lord; No fie - ry che - rub guards his seat, No fiery cherub guards his seat, Nor dou-ble flaming sword.
3. The peaceful gates of heav'n-ly bliss Are open'd by the Son; High let us raise our notes of praise, High let us raise our notes of praise, And reach th' almighty throne.
4. To thee ten thousand thanks we bring, Great ad - vo - cate on high, And glo - ry to th' e - ter - nal King, And glo-ry to th'e-ter-nal King, Who lays his an-ger by.

RINDGE. C. M.



Key of A
1. Let ev'-ry mortal ear at-tend, And ev'ry heart rejoice; The trumpet of the gospel sounds, With an in-vit-ing voice, The trumpet of the gospel sounds, With an in - vit-ing voice.
2. Ho, all ye hungry, starving souls, That feed upon the wind, And vainly strive with earthly toys To fill an empty mind, And vainly strive with earthly toys To fill an empty mind.
3. E - ter-nal wisdom has prepared A soul-re-viv-ing feast, And bids your longing appetites The rich pro-vi-sion taste, And bids your longing appetites The rich pro - vi-sion taste.
4. Ho, ye that pant for living streams, And pine away and die: Here you may quench your raging thirst, With springs that never dry, Here you may quench your raging thirst, With springs that nevr dry.
5. Rivers of love and mercy here In a rich ocean join; Sal - va-tion in abundance flows, Like floods of milk and wine, Salvation in abundance flows, Like floods of milk and wine.
6. The happy gates of gospel grace Stand open night and day: Lord, we are come to seek supplies, And drive our wants away, Lord, we are come to seek supplies, And drive our wants away.

ST. MARTIN'S. C. M.

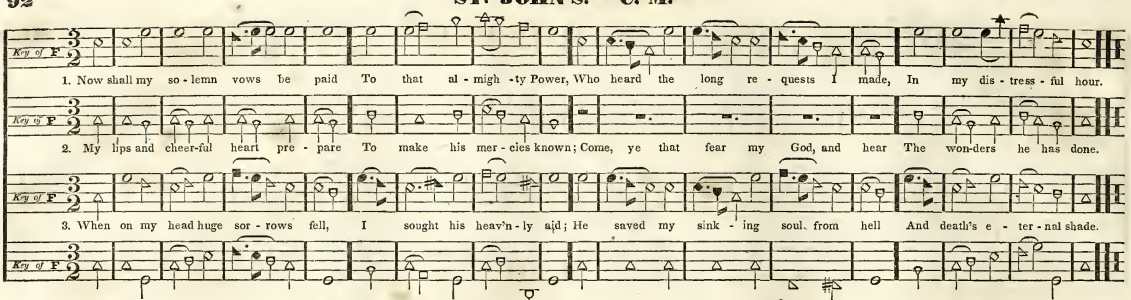


Key of G
1. O thou, to whom all crea - tures bow, With - in this earth - ly frame, Through all the world, how great art thou! How glo - rious is thy name!
2. When heav'n, thy glo - rious work on high, Em - ploys my wond'ring sight, The moon, that night - ly rules the sky, With stars of fee - bler light,
3. Lord, what is man! that thou shouldst choose To keep him in thy mind; Or what his race! that thou shouldst prove To them so wondrous kind?
4. O thou, to whom all crea - tures bow, With - in this earth - ly frame, Through all the world, how great art thou, How glo - rious is thy name!

ARLINGTON. C. M.

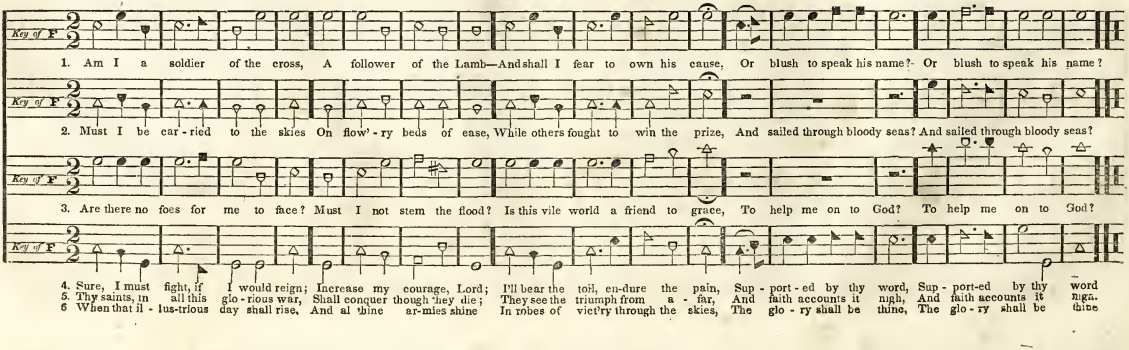
Key of G
1. This is the day the Lord hath made; He calls the hours his own; Let heav'n re-joice, let earth be glad, And praise surround his throne.
2. To - day he rose and left the dead, And Sa-tan's em - pire fell; To - day the saints his tri-umphs spread, And all his wonders tell.
3. Ho - san - na to th'a - noint-ed King, To Da-vid's ho - ly Son; Help us, O Lord, de - scend and bring Sal - va - tion from thy throne.
4. Bless'd be the Lord, who comes to men With mes - sa - ges of grace; Who comes in God his Fa-ther's name, To save our sin - ful race.
5. Ho - san - na in the high - est strains The church on earth can raise; The high - est heav'ns, in which he reigns, Shall give him no - bler praise.

ST. JOHN'S. C. M.



Key of F
1. Now shall my so - lemn vows be paid To that al - migh - ty Power, Who heard the long re - quests I made, In my dis - tress - ful hour.
2. My lips and cheer-ful heart pre - pare To make his mer - cies known; Come, ye that fear my God, and hear The won-ders he has done.
3. When on my head huge sor - rows fell, I sought his heav'n - ly aid; He saved my sink - ing soul from hell And death's e - ter - nal shade.
4. If sin lay co-ver'd in my heart, While pray'r em - ploy'd my tongue, The Lord had shown me no re - gard, Nor I his prais - es sung.
5. But God, (his name be e - ver bless'd,) Has set my spi - rit free: Nor turn'd from him my poor re - quest, Nor turn'd his heart from me.

MILBURN. C. M.



Key of F
1. Am I a soldier of the cross, A follower of the Lamb—And shall I fear to own his cause, Or blush to speak his name? Or blush to speak his name?
2. Must I be car - ried to the skies On flow' - ry beds of ease, While others fought to win the prize, And sailed through bloody seas? And sailed through bloody seas?
3. Are there no foes for me to face? Must I not stem the flood? Is this vile world a friend to grace, To help me on to God? To help me on to God?
4. Sure, I must fight, if I would reign; Increase my courage, Lord; I'll bear the toil, en-dure the pain, Sup - port - ed by thy word, Sup - port-ed by thy word
5. Thy saints, in all this glo - rious war, Shall conquer though they die; They see the triumph from a - far, And faith accounts it nigh, And faith accounts it nigh.
6 When that il - lus-trious day shall rise, And al thine ar-mies shine In robes of vict'ry through the skies, The glo - ry shall be thine, The glo - ry shall be thine

Key of G

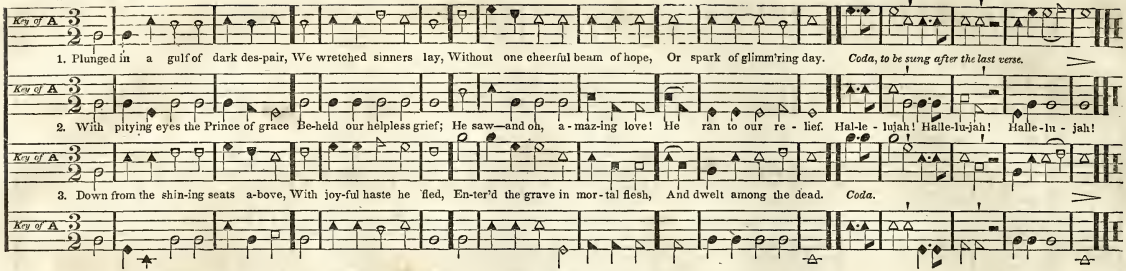
AZMON. C. M

Slow and Soft. Arranged from GLASER.



Key of A
1. Plunged in a gulf of dark des-pair, We wretched sinners lay, Without one cheerful beam of hope, Or spark of glimm'ring day. Coda, to be sung after the last verse.
2. With pitying eyes the Prince of grace Be-held our helpless grief; He saw—and oh, a-maz-ing love! He ran to our re-lief. Hal-le-lujah! Halle-lu-jah! Halle-lu-jah!
3. Down from the shin-ing seats a-bove, With joy-ful haste he fled, En-ter'd the grave in mor-tal flesh, And dwelt among the dead. Coda.
4. Oh, for this love let rocks and hills Their last-ing si-lence break; And all harmonious human tongues The Saviour's praises speak.
5. An-gels, as-sist our might-y joys; Strike all your harps of gold; But when you raise your highest notes, His love can ne'er be told.

CHARD. C. M.

H. B. O.

Rather Slow.

Key of A
1. Oh for a clo-ser walk with God, A calm and heav'n-ly frame; A light to shine up-on the road That leads me to the Lamb.
2. Where is the bless-ed-ness I knew When first I saw the Lord? Where is the soul-re-fresh-ing view Of Je-sus and his word?
3. What peace-ful hours I once en-joy'd; How sweet their mem'-ry still! But they have left an ach-ing void The world can ne-ver fill.
4. Re-turn, oh ho-ly Dove, re-turn, Sweet mes-sen-ger of rest; I hate the sins that made thee mourn, And drove thee from my breast.
5. The dear-est i-dol I have known, What-e'er that i-dol be, Help me to tear it from thy throne, And wor-ship on-ly thee
6. So shall my walk be close with God, Calm and se-rene my frame; So pu-rer light shall mark the road That leads me to the Lamb.

2. To all the list'ning tribes, O Lord,
Thy wonders I will tell;
And to those nations sing thy praise,
That round about us dwell.

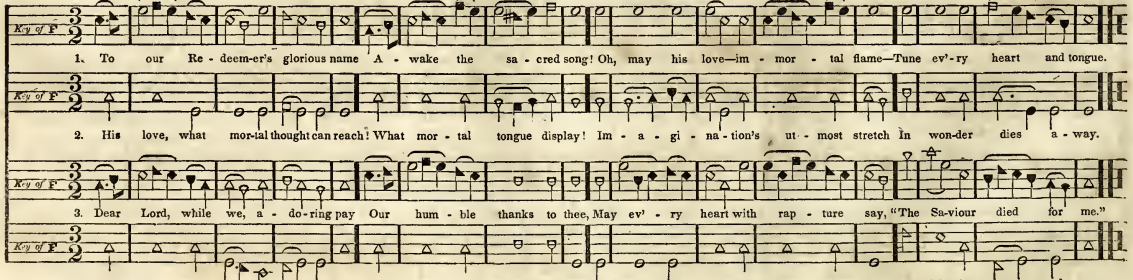
3. Because thy mercy's boundless height
The highest heaven transcends;
And far beyond th' aspiring clouds
Thy faithful truth extends.

4. Be thou, O God, exalted high,
Above the starry frame;
And let the world, with one consent,
Confess thy glorious name.

HERMON. C. M.

Slow and Soft.
Key of A
1. Oh, could I find, from day to day, A near-ness to my God, Then would my hours glide sweet a-way, While lean-ing on his word.
2. Lord, I de-sire with thee to live A-new from day to day, In joys the world can nev-er give, Nor ev-er take a-way.
3. Blest Je-sus, come, and rule my heart, And make me whol-ly thine, That I may nev-er more de-part, Nor grieve thy love di-vine.
4. Thus till my last ex-pi-ring breath, Thy good-ness I'll a-dore; And when my frame dis-solves in death, My soul shall love thee more.

HEATH. C. M.



Key of F

6. The boun - ties of thy love Shall crown my fol - lowing days Nor from thy house will I re - move, Nor cease to speak thy praise.

FAWCET. S. M.

Key, B♭
1. Bless'd be the tie that binds Our hearts in Chris-tian love; The fel-low-sh.p of kin-dred minds Is like to that a-bove.
2. Be-fore our Fa-ther's throne We pour our ar-dent pray'rs; Our fears, our hopes, our aims are one— Our com-forts and our cares
3. We share our mu-tual woes, Our mu-tual bur-dens bear; And of-ten for each o-ther flows The sym-pa-thiz-ing tear
4. When we a-sun-der part, It gives us in-ward pain; But we shall still be join'd in heart, And hope to meet a-gain.
5. This glo-rious hope re-vives Our cou-rage by the way; While each in ex-pec-ta-tion lives, And longs to see the day.
6. From sor-row, toil, and pain, And sin we shall be free; And per-fect love and friendship reign Through all e-ter-ni-ty.

DARTMOUTH. S. M.

Key, B♭
1. Oh bless the Lord, my soul; Let all with-in me join, And aid my tongue to bless his name, Whose fa-vours are di-vine.
2. Oh bless the Lord, my soul; Nor let his mer-cies lie For-got-ten in un-thank-ful-ness, And with-out prais-es die
3. 'Tis he for-gives thy sins; 'Tis he re-lieves thy pain: 'Tis he that heals thy sick-ness-es, And makes thee young a-gain.
4. He crowns thy life with love, When ran-som'd from the grave; He that re-deem'd my soul from hell, Hath sov'-reign pow'r to save

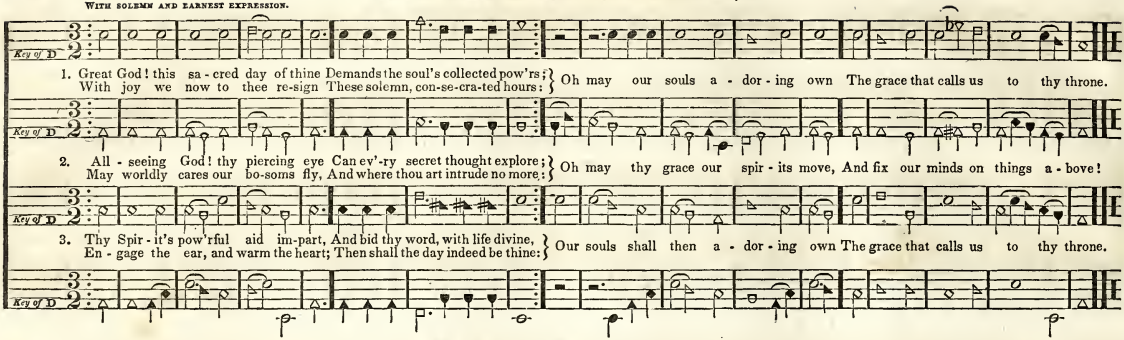
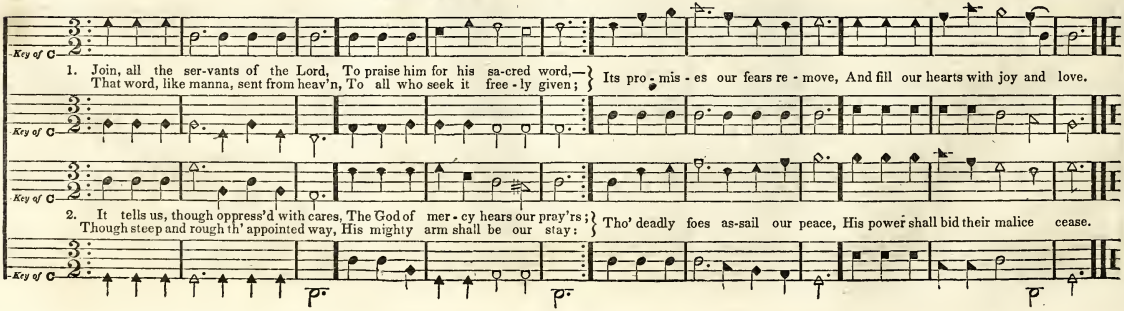
OGDENSBURGH. L. M. (6 LINES.)

WITH SOLEMN AND EARNEST EXPRESSION.



Key of D
1. Great God! this sa - cred day of thine Demands the soul's collected pow'rs;
With joy we now to thee re-sign These solemn, con-se-cra-ted hours:
Oh may our souls a - dor - ing own The grace that calls us to thy throne.
2. All - seeing God! thy piercing eye Can ev'-ry secret thought explore;
May worldly cares our bo-soms fly, And where thou art intrude no more:
Oh may thy grace our spir - its move, And fix our minds on things a - bove!
3. Thy Spir - it's pow'rful aid im-part, And bid thy word, with life divine,
En - gage the ear, and warm the heart; Then shall the day indeed be thine:
Our souls shall then a - dor - ing own The grace that calls us to thy throne.

ASTORIA. L. M. (6 LINES.)



Key of C
1. Join, all the ser-vants of the Lord, To praise him for his sa-cred word,—
That word, like manna, sent from heav'n, To all who seek it free - ly given;
Its pro - mis - es our fears re - move, And fill our hearts with joy and love.
2. It tells us, though oppress'd with cares, The God of mer - cy hears our pray'rs;
Though steep and rough th' appointed way, His mighty arm shall be our stay:
Tho' deadly foes as-sail our peace, His power shall bid their malice cease.

Key of D
1. A - wake, our souls, a - way, our fears; Let ev' - ry trem-bling thought be gone; A - wake, and run the heav'n - ly race, And put a cheerful cou-rage on, A-wake, and run the heav'nly race, And put a cheer - ful cou-rage on.

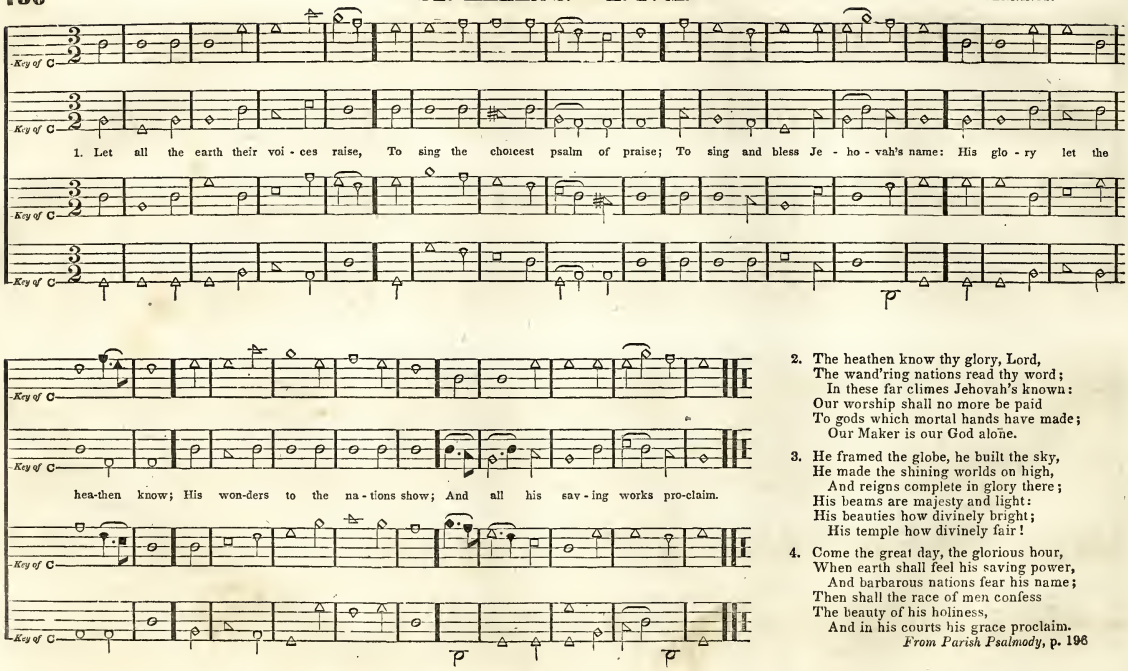
2. True, 'tis a strait and thorny road,
And mortal spirits tire and faint;
But they forget the mighty God,
Who feeds the strength of every saint.

3. The mighty God, whose matchless power
Is ever new, and ever young;
And firm endures, while endless years
Their everlasting circles run.

4. From thee, the overflowing spring,
Our souls shall drink a full supply;
While such as trust their native strength,
Shall melt away, and droop, and die.

5. Swift as an eagle cuts the air,
We'll mount aloft to thine abode:
On wings of love our souls shall fly,
Nor tire amidst the heavenly road.

☞ Sing the small notes at the beginning of the tune to the second and fifth stanzas.



Key of C
1. Let all the earth their voi - ces raise, To sing the choicest psalm of praise; To sing and bless Je - ho - vah's name: His glo - ry let the hea-then know; His won-ders to the na - tions show; And all his sav - ing works pro-claim.

2. The heathen know thy glory, Lord,
The wand'ring nations read thy word;
In these far climes Jehovah's known:
Our worship shall no more be paid
To gods which mortal hands have made;
Our Maker is our God alone.

3. He framed the globe, he built the sky,
He made the shining worlds on high,
And reigns complete in glory there;
His beams are majesty and light:
His beauties how divinely bright;
His temple how divinely fair!

4. Come the great day, the glorious hour,
When earth shall feel his saving power,
And barbarous nations fear his name;
Then shall the race of men confess
The beauty of his holiness,
And in his courts his grace proclaim.

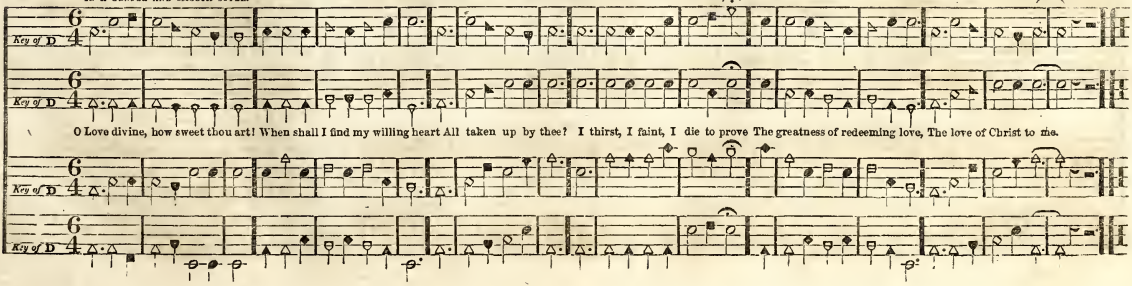
3. Be this my one great business here, With se-rious in - dus-try and fear, E - ter - nal bliss t'in-sure: {Thine ut-most counsel to ful - fil, / And suf - fer all thy righteous will,} And to the end en - dure
4. Then, Fa-ther, then my soul re - ceive, Trans-port-ed from the vale, to live And reign with thee a - bove, {Where faith is sweet-ly lost in sight, / And hope in full, su-preme de - light,} And ev - er - last - ing love.

GANGES. C. P. M.

IN A GENTLE AND SMOOTH STYLE.



Key of D
O Love divine, how sweet thou art! When shall I find my willing heart All taken up by thee? I thirst, I faint, I die to prove The greatness of redeeming love, The love of Christ to me.

2. Those that against me rise
Are aliens from the skies;
They hate thy church and kingdom, Lord·
They mock thy fearful name;
They glory in their shame;
Nor heed the wonders of thy word.

3. But, O thou King divine,
My chosen friends are thine;
The men that still my soul sustain:
Wilt thou my foes subdue,
And form their hearts anew,
And snatch them from eternal pain.

4. Escaped from every wo,
Oh grant me here below
To praise thy name with those I love;
And when beyond the skies
Our souls unbodied rise,
Unite us in the realms above

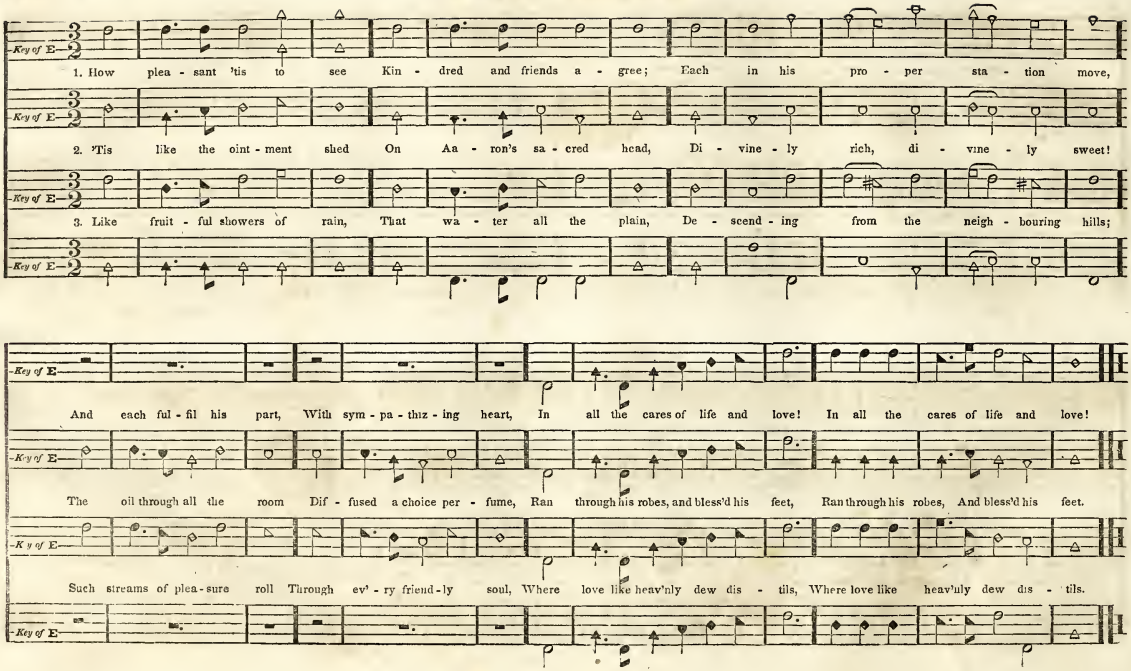
Key of E
1. How pleased and bless'd was I, To hear the peo - ple cry,—"Come, let us seek our God to - day;" Yes, with a cheer-ful zeal,
2. Zi - on, thrice hap - py place, A - dorn'd with' won - drous grace, And walls of strength em - brace thee round; In thee our tribes ap - pear,

Key of E
We haste to Zi - on's hill, And there our vows and ho - nours pay.
To pray, and praise, and hear The sa - cred gos - pel's joy ful sound.

3. There David's greater Son
Has fix'd his royal throne;
He sits for grace and judgment there;
He bids the saint be glad;
He makes the sinner sad;
And humble souls rejoice with fear.

4. May peace attend thy gate,
And joy within thee wait,
To bless the soul of ev'ry guest;
The man that seeks thy peace,
And wishes thine increase,
A thousand blessings on him rest.

5. My tongue repeats her vows—
"Peace to this sacred house,"
For here my friends and kindred dwell;
And since my glorious God
Makes thee his bless'd abode,
My soul shall ever love thee well.



Key of E
1. How plea - sant 'tis to see Kin - dred and friends a - gree; Each in his pro - per sta - tion move,
2. 'Tis like the oint - ment shed On Aa - ron's sa - cred head, Di - vine - ly rich, di - vine - ly sweet!
3. Like fruit - ful showers of rain, That wa - ter all the plain, De - scend - ing from the neigh - bouring hills;
And each ful - fil his part, With sym - pa - thiz - ing heart, In all the cares of life and love! In all the cares of life and love!
The oil through all the room Dif - fused a choice per - fume, Ran through his robes, and bless'd his feet, Ran through his robes, And bless'd his feet.
Such streams of plea - sure roll Through ev' - ry friend - ly soul, Where love like heav'nly dew dis - tils, Where love like heav'nly dew dis - tils.

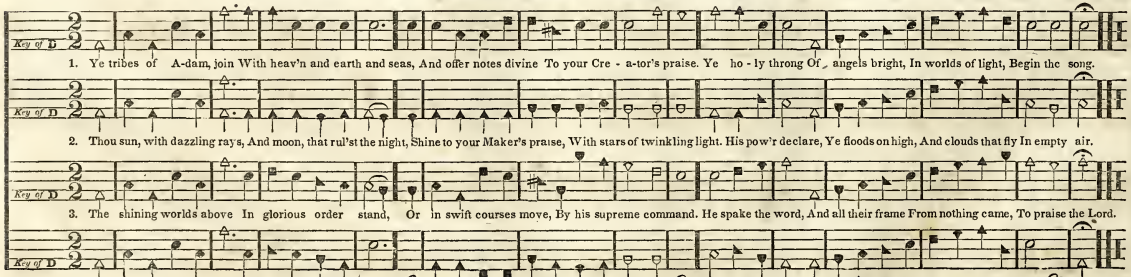
2. How mighty is his hand! What wonders hath he done! He form'd the earth and seas, And spread the heav'ns alone. His pow'r and grace Are still the same; And let his name Have endless praise
3. He sent his on-ly Son, To save us from our wo, From Sa-tan, sin, and death, And every hurtful foe. His pow'r and grace Are still the same; And let his name Have endless praise.
4. Give thanks aloud to God, To God, the heav'nly King; And let the spacious earth His works and glories sing. Thy mercy, Lord, Shall still endure; And ev-er sure Abides thy word.

DARWELL. H. M.



Key of D
1. Ye tribes of A-dam, join With heav'n and earth and seas, And offer notes divine To your Cre - a-tor's praise. Ye ho - ly throng Of angels bright, In worlds of light, Begin the song.
2. Thou sun, with dazzling rays, And moon, that rul'st the night, Shine to your Maker's praise, With stars of twinkling light. His pow'r declare, Ye floods on high, And clouds that fly In empty air.
3. The shining worlds above In glorious order stand, Or in swift courses move, By his supreme command. He spake the word, And all their frame From nothing came, To praise the Lord.
4. He moved their mighty wheels In unknown a-ges past; And each his word fulfils, While time and na - ture last. In diff'rent ways, His works proclaim His wondrous name, And speak his praise.

Key of D
1. The Lord Je - ho - vah reigns, His throne is built on high; The gar - ments he as - sumes Are light and ma - jes - ty;
His glo - ries shine with beams so bright, No mor - tal eye can bear the sight.

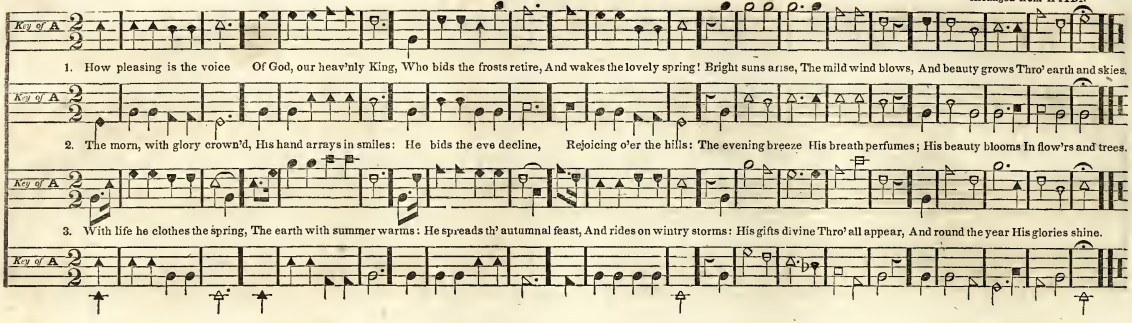
2. The thunders of his hand
Keep the wide world in awe;
His wrath and justice stand
To guard his holy law;
And where his love resolves to bless,
His truth confirms and seals the grace.

3. Through all his ancient works
Surprising wisdom shines;
Confounds the powers of hell,
And breaks their curs'd designs;
Strong is his arm, and shall fulfil
His great decrees, his sov'reign will.

4. And can this mighty King
Of glory condescend?
And will he write his name,
"My father, and my friend?"
I love his name, I love his word!
Join, all my powers, and praise the Lord.

BRADFORD. H. M.

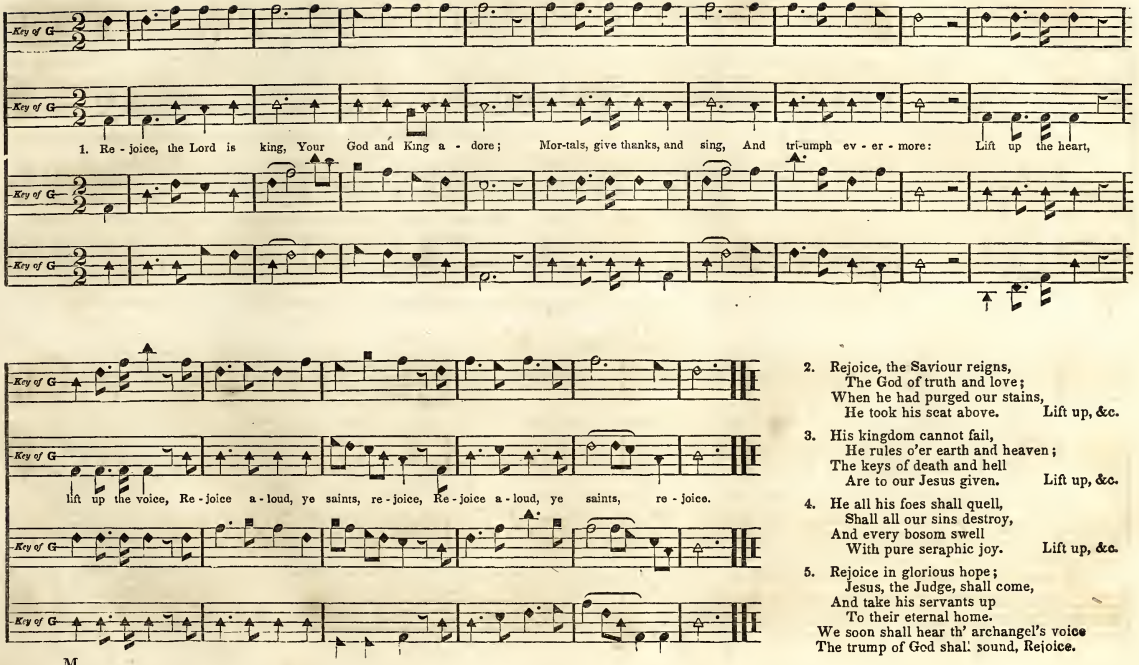
Arranged from HAYDN



Key of A
1. How pleasing is the voice Of God, our heav'nly King, Who bids the frosts retire, And wakes the lovely spring! Bright suns arise, The mild wind blows, And beauty grows Thro' earth and skies.
2. The morn, with glory crown'd, His hand arrays in smiles: He bids the eve decline, Rejoicing o'er the hills: The evening breeze His breath perfumes; His beauty blooms In flow'rs and trees.
3. With life he clothes the spring, The earth with summer warms: He spreads th' autumnal feast, And rides on wintry storms: His gifts divine Thro' all appear, And round the year His glories shine.

STOW. H. M.

Key of A
1. I give im - mor-tal praise, To God the Father's love, For all my comforts here, And better hopes above. He sent his own e - ter - nal Son, To die for crimes that man had done.
2. Bear, bear the tidings round, Let ev'-ry mortal know What love in God is found, What pi-ty he can show. Ye winds that blow, ye waves that roll, Bear the glad news from pole to pole!



Key of G
1. Re - joice, the Lord is king, Your God and King a - dore; Mor-tals, give thanks, and sing, And tri-umph ev - er - more: Lift up the heart, lift up the voice, Re - joice a - loud, ye saints, re - joice, Re - joice a - loud, ye saints, re - joice.

2. Rejoice, the Saviour reigns,
The God of truth and love;
When he had purged our stains,
He took his seat above. Lift up, &c.

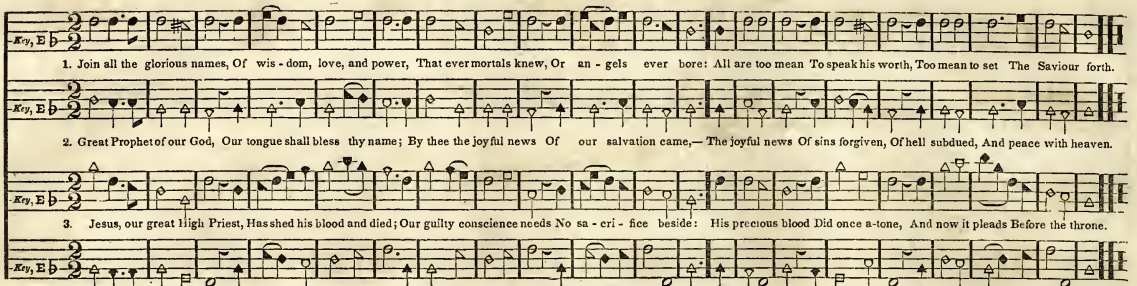
3. His kingdom cannot fail,
He rules o'er earth and heaven;
The keys of death and hell
Are to our Jesus given. Lift up, &c.

4. He all his foes shall quell,
Shall all our sins destroy,
And every bosom swell
With pure seraphic joy. Lift up, &c.

5. Rejoice in glorious hope;
Jesus, the Judge, shall come,
And take his servants up
To their eternal home.
We soon shall hear th' archangel's voice
The trump of God shall sound, Rejoice.

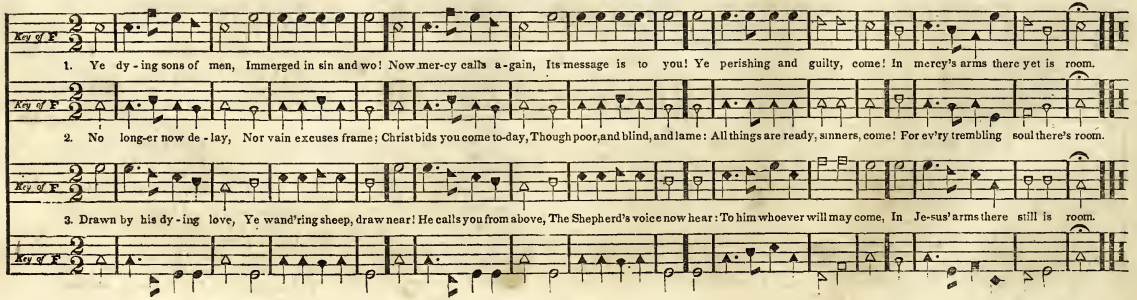
FITZWATER. H. M.

T. CLARK

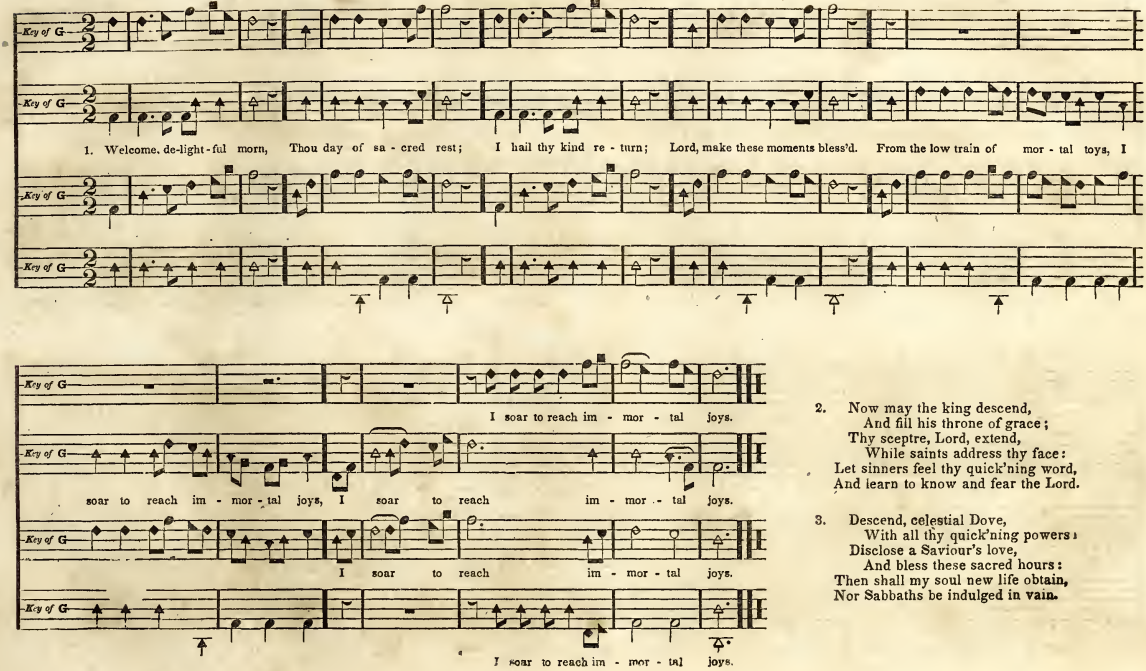


Key, E♭
1. Join all the glorious names, Of wis - dom, love, and power, That ever mortals knew, Or an - gels ever bore: All are too mean To speak his worth, Too mean to set The Saviour forth.
2. Great Prophet of our God, Our tongue shall bless thy name; By thee the joyful news Of our salvation came,— The joyful news Of sins forgiven, Of hell subdued, And peace with heaven.
3. Jesus, our great High Priest, Has shed his blood and died; Our guilty conscience needs No sa - cri - fice beside: His precious blood Did once a-tone, And now it pleads Before the throne.
4. O thou almigh - ty Lord, Our Conqueror and our King, Thy sceptre and thy sword, Thy reigning grace we sing: Thine is the power; Oh, make us sit In willing bonds Beneath thy feet.

ZEBULON. H. M.



Key of F
1. Ye dy - ing sons of men, Immerged in sin and wo! Now mer-cy calls a-gain, Its message is to you! Ye perishing and guilty, come! In mercy's arms there yet is room.
2. No long-er now de - lay, Nor vain excuses frame; Christ bids you come to-day, Though poor, and blind, and lame: All things are ready, sinners, come! For ev'ry trembling soul there's room.
3. Drawn by his dy - ing love, Ye wand'ring sheep, draw near! He calls you from above, The Shepherd's voice now hear: To him whoever will may come, In Je-sus' arms there still is room.



Key of G
1. Welcome, de-light-ful morn, Thou day of sa-cred rest; I hail thy kind re-turn; Lord, make these moments bless'd. From the low train of mor-tal toys, I
I soar to reach im-mor-tal joys.
soar to reach im-mor-tal joys, I soar to reach im-mor-tal joys.
I soar to reach im-mor-tal joys.
I soar to reach im-mor-tal joys.

2. Now may the king descend,
And fill his throne of grace;
Thy sceptre, Lord, extend,
While saints address thy face:
Let sinners feel thy quick'ning word,
And learn to know and fear the Lord.

3. Descend, celestial Dove,
With all thy quick'ning powers;
Disclose a Saviour's love,
And bless these sacred hours:
Then shall my soul new life obtain,
Nor Sabbaths be indulged in vain.

2. I tried each earthly charm—
In pleasure's haunts I stray'd—
I sought its soothing balm—
I asked the world its aid;
But oh! no balm it had
To heal a wounded breast,
And I, forlorn and sad,
Must seek another rest;
My days of happiness are gone,
And I am left to weep alone.

3. Where can the mourner go,
And tell his tale of grief?
Ah! who can sooth his wo,
And give him sweet relief?
Thou, Jesus! canst impart,
By thy long wish'd return,
Ease to this wounded heart,
And bid me cease to mourn;
Then shall this night of sorrow flee,
And I rejoice, my Lord, in thee.

HOTHAM. 7s. (DOUBLE.)

Key, E♭
1. Je-sus, lover of my soul, Let me to thy bosom fly, While the raging bil - lows roll, While the tempest still is high; Hide me, O my Saviour, hide,
2. Other refuge have I none—Hangs my helpless soul on thee; Leave, ah, leave me not a - lone, Still sup - port and comfort me; All my trust on thee is stay'd,
3. Thou, O Christ, art all I want; More than all in thee I find; Raise the fallen, cheer the faint, Heal the sick and lead the blind: Just and ho - ly is thy name,
4. Plenteous grace with thee is found—Grace to pardon all my sin; Let the healing streams a - bound, Make and keep me pure with - in; Thou of life the foun - tain art,
Till the storm of life be past; Safe in - to the ha - ven guide; Oh re - ceive my soul at last, Oh re - ceive my soul at last.
All my help from thee I bring; Cov - er my de - fence - less head With the shadow of thy wing, With the sha - dow of thy wing.

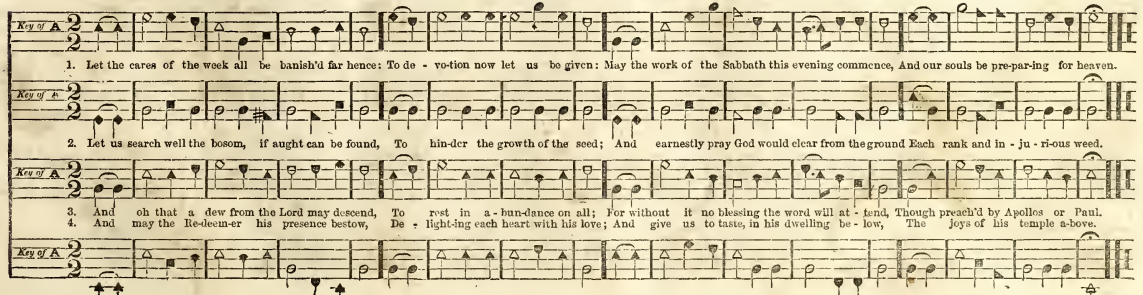
End the work of thy be - gin - ning; Bring us to e - ter - nal day.
Take a - way the love of sin - ning; Take our load of guilt a - way;

VERNON. 12s & 9s, or 11s & 8s.

Composed for this Hymn, by E. HERITAGE, expressly for this work.



Key of A
1. Let the cares of the week all be banish'd far hence: To de - vo - tion now let us be given: May the work of the Sabbath this evening commence, And our souls be pre-par-ing for heaven.
2. Let us search well the bosom, if aught can be found, To hin-der the growth of the seed; And earnestly pray God would clear from the ground Each rank and in - ju - ri-ous weed.
3. And oh that a dew from the Lord may descend, To rest in a - bun-dance on all; For without it no blessing the word will at - tend, Though preach'd by Apollos or Paul.
4. And may the Re-deem-er his presence bestow, De - light-ing each heart with his love; And give us to taste, in his dwelling be - low, The joys of his temple a-bove.

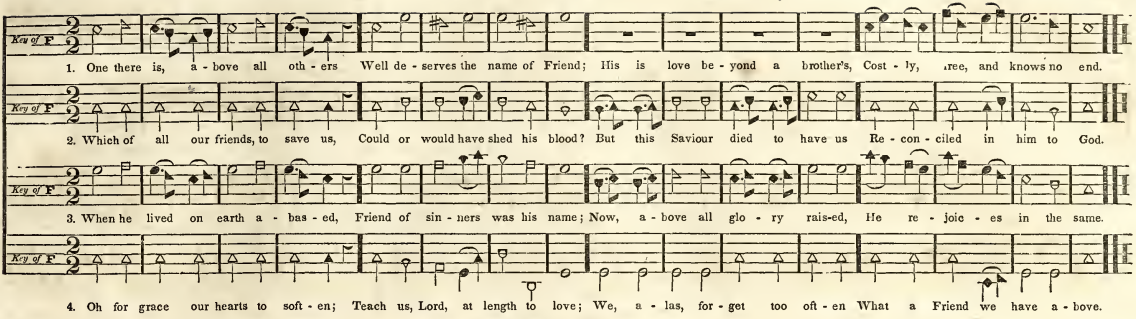
2. Thou new heaven and earth's Creator,
In our deepest darkness rise,
Scattering all the night of nature,
Pouring day upon our eyes.

3. Still we wait for thy appearing;
Life and joy thy beams impart,
Chasing all our fears, and cheering
Every poor, benighted heart.

4. Come, extend thy wonted favour
To our ruin'd, guilty race;
Come, thou blest, exalted Saviour,
Come, apply thy saving grace.

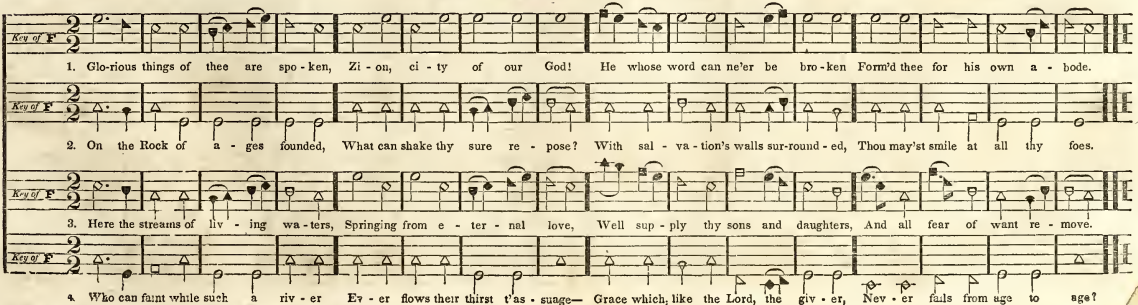
5. By thine all-atoning merit
Every burden'd soul release;
By the teachings of thy Spirit
Guide us into perfect peace.

SICILY. 8s & 7s.



Key of F
1. One there is, a - bove all oth - ers Well de - serves the name of Friend; His is love be - yond a brother's, Cost - ly, free, and knows no end.
2. Which of all our friends, to save us, Could or would have shed his blood? But this Saviour died to have us Re - con - ciled in him to God.
3. When he lived on earth a - bas - ed, Friend of sin - ners was his name; Now, a - bove all glo - ry rais-ed, He re - joic - es in the same.
4. Oh for grace our hearts to soft - en; Teach us, Lord, at length to love; We, a - las, for - get too oft - en What a Friend we have a - bove.

WORTHING. 8s & 7s.



Key of F

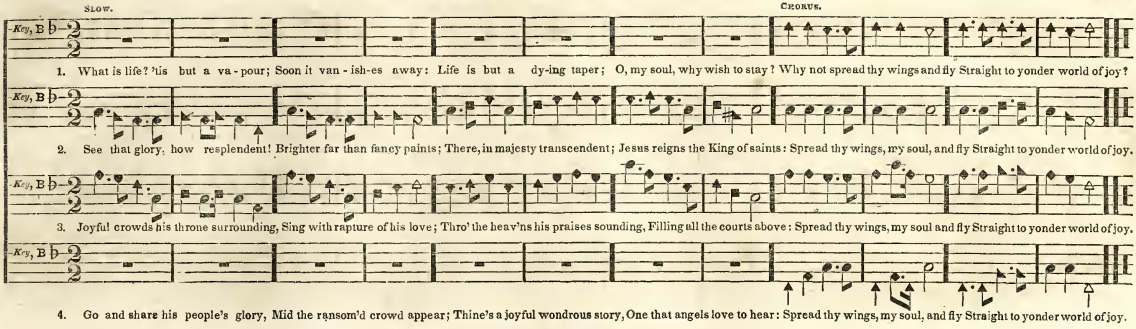
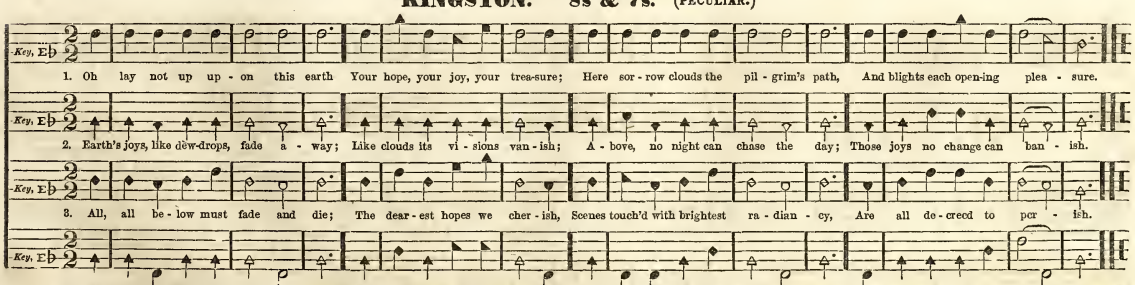
CHADWICK. 8s & 7s.



Slow.
Chorus.
Key, B♭
1. What is life? 'tis but a va - pour; Soon it van - ish-es away: Life is but a dy-ing taper; O, my soul, why wish to stay? Why not spread thy wings and fly Straight to yonder world of joy?
2. See that glory, how resplendent! Brighter far than fancy paints; There, in majesty transcendent; Jesus reigns the King of saints: Spread thy wings, my soul, and fly Straight to yonder world of joy.
3. Joyful crowds his throne surrounding, Sing with rapture of his love; Thro' the heav'ns his praises sounding, Filling all the courts above: Spread thy wings, my soul and fly Straight to yonder world of joy.
4. Go and share his people's glory, Mid the ransom'd crowd appear; Thine's a joyful wondrous story, One that angels love to hear: Spread thy wings, my soul, and fly Straight to yonder world of joy.

KINGSTON. 8s & 7s. (PECULIAR.)



Key, E♭
1. Oh lay not up up - on this earth Your hope, your joy, your trea-sure; Here sor - row clouds the pil - grim's path, And blights each open-ing plea - sure.
2. Earth's joys, like dew-drops, fade a - way; Like clouds its vi - sions van - ish; A - bove, no night can chase the day; Those joys no change can ban - ish.
3. All, all be - low must fade and die; The dear - est hopes we cher - ish, Scenes touch'd with brightest ra - dian - cy, Are all de - creed to per - ish.

1. When we pass through yon - der riv er, When we reach the far - ther shore, There's an end of war for ev - er; We shall see our foes no more: All our con - flicts then shall cease, Fol - low'd by e - ter - nal peace.

2. After warfare, rest is pleasant:
Oh how sweet the prospect is!
Though we toil and strive at present
Let us not repine at this:
Toil, and pain, and conflict, cease,
All endear repose at last.

3. When we gain the heav'nly regions,
When we touch the heav'nly shore,—
Blessed thought!—no hostile legions
Can alarm or trouble more:
Far beyond the reach of foes,
We shall dwell in sweet repose.

4. Oh that hope! how bright, how glorious!
'Tis his people's blest reward;
In the Saviour's strength victorious,
They at length behold their Lord:
In his kingdom they shall rest.
In his love be fully blest

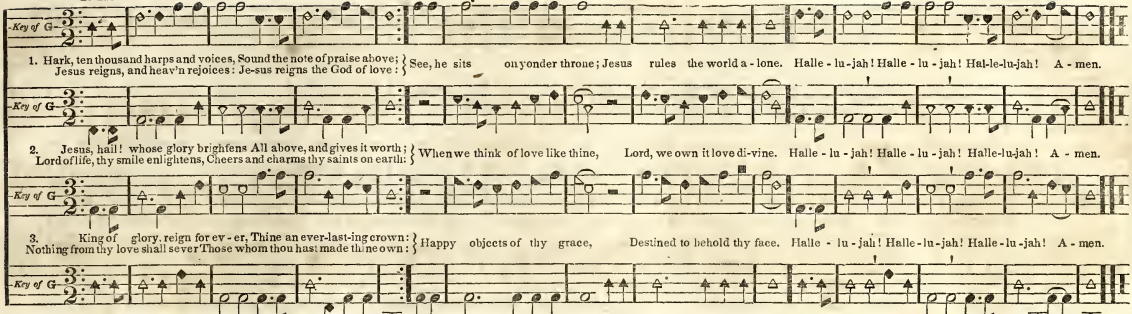
HARWELL. 8s & 7s. (6 LINES, PECULIAR.)

LIVELY.



Key of G
1. Hark, ten thousand harps and voices, Sound the note of praise above; Jesus reigns, and heav'n rejoices: Je-sus reigns the God of love: See, he sits on yonder throne; Jesus rules the world a-lone. Halle-lu-jah! Halle-lu-jah! Hal-le-lu-jah! A-men.
2. Jesus, hail! whose glory brightens All above, and gives it worth; Lord of life, thy smile enlightens, Cheers and charms thy saints on earth: When we think of love like thine, Lord, we own it love di-vine. Halle-lu-jah! Halle-lu-jah! Halle-lu-jah! A-men.
3. King of glory, reign for ev-er, Thine an ever-last-ing crown: Nothing from thy love shall sever Those whom thou hast made thine own: Happy objects of thy grace, Destined to behold thy face. Halle-lu-jah! Halle-lu-jah! Halle-lu-jah! A-men.
4. Saviour, hasten thine appearing; Bring, oh bring the glorious day, When the gospel summons hearing, Heathen nations will o-bey: Then with gold-en harps, we'll sing, Glo-ry, glo-ry to our King. Hal-le-lu-jah! Halle-lujah! Hal-le-lu-jah! A-men.

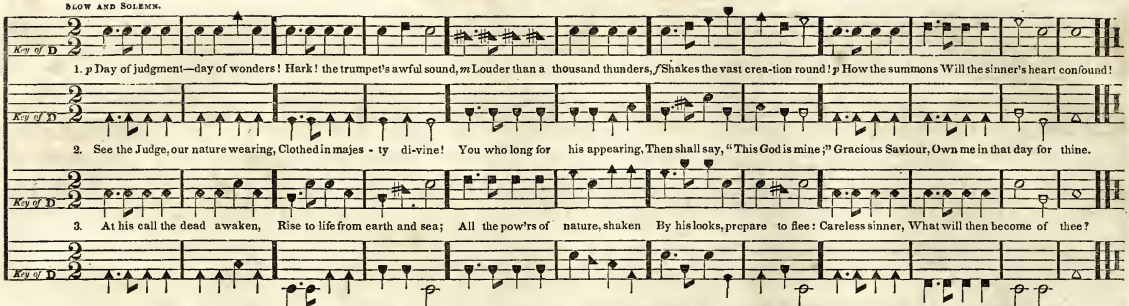
OSGOOD. 8s, 7s & 4s.

WITH TENDERNESS AND FEELING.

Arranged from RITTER.

Key, E♭
1. Hear, O sin-ner! mer-cy hails you, Now with sweetest voice she calls, Bids you haste to seek the Sa-viour, Ere the hand of jus-tice falls; Hear, O sinner, Hear, O sin-ner, 'Tis the voice of mer-cy calls, 'Tis the voice of mer-cy calls.
Ritard.
2. Haste! O sin-ner! to the Saviour, Seek his mer-cy while you may, Soon the day of grace is o-ver; Soon your life will pass a-way: Haste, O sin-ner, Haste, O sin-ner! You must perish— if you stay, You must perish— if you stay.

BREST. 8s, 7s & 4s.



Slow and Solemn.
Key of D
1. p Day of judgment—day of wonders! Hark! the trumpet's awful sound, m Louder than a thousand thunders, f Shakes the vast crea-tion round! p How the summons Will the sinner's heart confound!
2. See the Judge, our nature wearing, Clothed in majes - ty di-vine! You who long for his appearing, Then shall say, "This God is mine;" Gracious Saviour, Own me in that day for thine.
3. At his call the dead awaken, Rise to life from earth and sea; All the pow'rs of nature, shaken By his looks, prepare to flee: Careless sinner, What will then become of thee?
4. But to those who have confessed, Lov'd, and serv'd the Lord below, He will say, "Come near, ye blessed, See the kingdom I bestow: You for ever Shall my love and glo-ry know."

wish or to fear, No mor - tal so hap - py as I, My sum-mer would last all the year.

3. Content with beholding his face,
My all to his pleasure resign'd;
No changes of season or place
Would make any change in my mind:
While bless'd with a sense of his love,
A palace a toy would appear;
And prisons would palaces prove,
If Jesus would dwell with me there.

4. Dear Lord, if indeed I am thine,
If thou art my sun and my song,
Say why do I languish and pine?
And why are my winters so long?
Oh drive these dark clouds from my sky
Thy soul-cheering presence restore;
Or take me to thee up on high,
Where winter and clouds are no more.

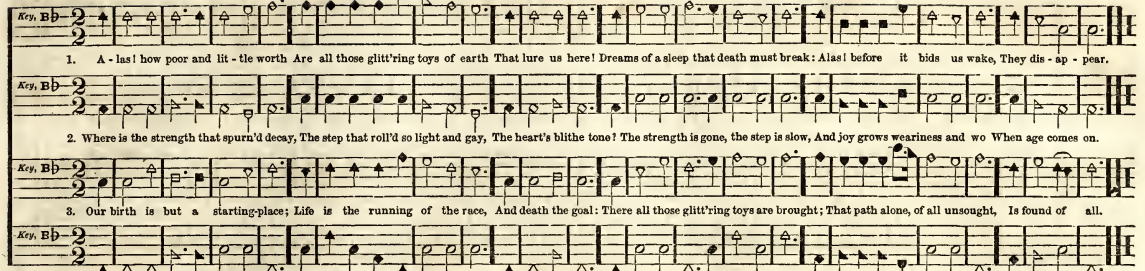
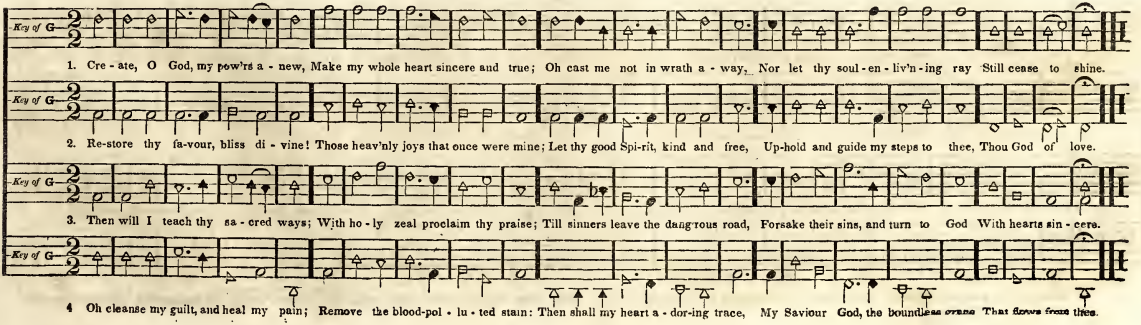
ELVAH. 8s & 4s. (PECULIAR.)



SLOW.
Key, B♭
1. A - las! how poor and lit - tle worth Are all those glitt'ring toys of earth That lure us here! Dreams of a sleep that death must break: Alas! before it bids us wake, They dis - ap - pear.
2. Where is the strength that spurn'd decay, The step that roll'd so light and gay, The heart's blithe tone? The strength is gone, the step is slow, And joy grows weariness and wo When age comes on.
3. Our birth is but a starting-place; Life is the running of the race, And death the goal: There all those glitt'ring toys are brought; That path alone, of all unsought, Is found of all.
4. Oh let the soul its slumbers break, A-rouse its senses, and awake To see how soon Life, like its glo-ries, glides a - way, And the stern footsteps of de - cay Come stealing on.

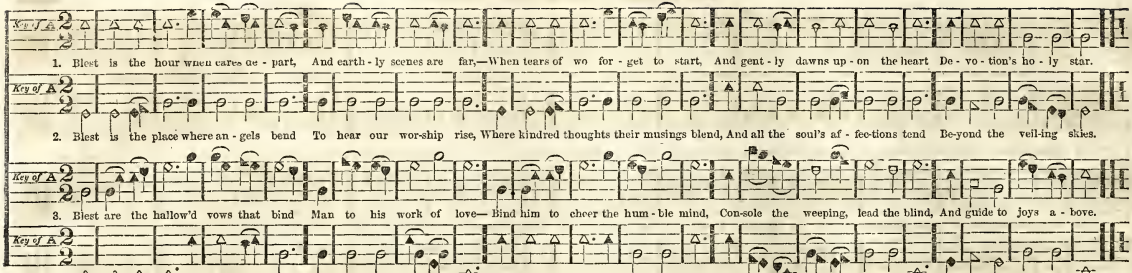
CARTER. 8s & 4s.



Key of G
1. Cre - ate, O God, my pow'rs a - new, Make my whole heart sincere and true; Oh cast me not in wrath a - way, Nor let thy soul - en - liv'n - ing ray Still cease to shine.
2. Re-store thy fa-vour, bliss di - vine! Those heav'nly joys that once were mine; Let thy good Spi-rit, kind and free, Up-hold and guide my steps to thee, Thou God of love.
3. Then will I teach thy sa - cred ways; With ho - ly zeal proclaim thy praise; Till sinners leave the dang'rous road, Forsake their sins, and turn to God With hearts sin - cere.
4 Oh cleanse my guilt, and heal my pain; Remove the blood-pol - lu - ted stain: Then shall my heart a - dor-ing trace, My Saviour God, the boundless ocean That flows from thee.

JEWELL. 8s & 6s.

SLOW IN A CLOSE AND GLIDING STYLE.



Key of A
1. Blest is the hour when cares de - part, And earth - ly scenes are far,—When tears of wo for - get to start, And gent - ly dawns up - on the heart De - vo - tion's ho - ly star.
2. Blest is the place where an - gels bend To hear our wor-ship rise, Where kindred thoughts their musings blend, And all the soul's af - fec-tions tend Be-yond the veil-ing skies.
3. Blest are the hallow'd vows that bind Man to his work of love—Bind him to cheer the hum - ble mind, Con-sole the weeping, lead the blind, And guide to joys a - bove.
4. Sweet shall the song of glo - ry swell, Spi - rit di - vine, to thee, When they, whose work is fin - ish'd well, In thy own courts of rest shall dwell, Blest through e-ter - ni - ty.

1. Thou, who didst stoop below, To drain the cup of wo, And wear the form of frail mortality,— Thy blessed labours done, Thy crown of vict'ry won,—Hast pass'd from earth—pass'd to thy home on high.
2. It was no path of flow'rs, Thro' this dark world of ours, Beloved of the Father, thou didst tread; And shall we, in dismay, Shrink from the narrow way, When clouds and darkness are around it spread?
3. O Thou, who art our life, Be with us through the strife; Thy own meek head by rudest storms wast bow'd. Raise thou our eyes above, To see a Father's love Beam, like a bow of promise through the cloud.
4. E'en through the awful gloom, Which hovers o'er the tomb, That light of love our guiding star shall be; Our spirits shall not dread The shadowy way to tread, Friend, Guardian, Saviour, which doth lead to thee.

There is a Fountain filled with Blood. [HYMN.]

L. MASON.

2d ending.
Key of D
1. There is a fountain fill'd with blood, Drawn from Immanuel's veins: And sinners plunged beneath that flood, Lose all their guilty stains, Lose all their guilty stains.
2 The dying thief rejoiced to see That fountain in his day; And there may I, though vile as he, Wash all my sins away, Wash all my sins a-way.
3. Dear, dying Lamb! thy precious blood Shall never lose its power, Till all the ransom'd church of God Be saved to sin no more, Be saved to sin no more.
4. E'er since by faith I saw the stream, Thy flowing wounds supply, Redeeming love has been my theme, And shall be till I die, And shall be till I die.
5 And when this feeble, stamm'ring tongue Lies silent in the grave; Then, in a nobler, sweeter song, I'll sing thy power to save, [omit - - - - - -] I'll sing thy power to save.

2d TREBLE.
Key of F
1. Come, ye sinners, poor and wretched, Come in mercy's gracious hour;
Jesus ready stands to save you, Full of pity, love, and pow'r:
2. Let no sense of guilt prevent you, Nor of fitness fondly dream;
All the fitness he re-qui-reth Is to feel your need of him:
He is a-ble, He is a - ble, He is willing, doubt no more, He is a-ble, He is a-ble, He is willing, doubt no more.

I need not tell thee who I am;
My misery and sin declare;
Thyself hast called me by my name,
Look on thy hands, and read it there;
But who, I ask thee, Who art thou?
Tell me thy name and tell me now.

3.

In vain thou strugglest to get free,
I never will unloose my hold;
Art thou the man that died for me?
The secret of thy love unfold:

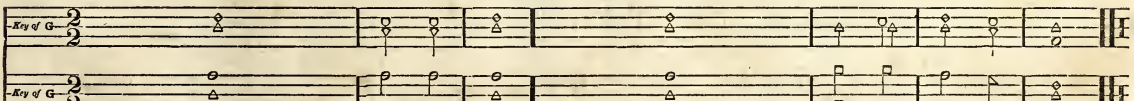
To-day the Saviour calls. [CHANT.]

GREGORIAN.



Key of G
Key of G
1 To-day the Saviour calls; Ye wand'-rers come; O, ye benighted souls, Why lon-ger roam?
2 To-day the Saviour calls; Oh hear him now; Within these sacred walls, To Je-sus bow.
3. To-day the Saviour calls; For re-fuge fly; The storm of justice falls, And death is nigh.
4. The Spirit calls to-day: Yield to his power: Oh, grieve him not a-way: 'Tis mer-cy's hour.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

Mr. J. B. Aikin

My dear sir:—I have carefully perused, and I may say studied, your new system of musical notation in the Christian Minstrel. I am not sufficiently a practical musician to be authorized to form a judgment of the value of the collection of tunes contained in the book. But of one thing I am perfectly certain. You have simplified the method by which an understanding of the theory of music is conveyed to the mind in a remarkable degree. Of all the sciences to which my attention has been directed, music is the most complicated and unintelligible in the ordinary modes of instruction. If I had enjoyed the advantages of your book twenty-five years ago, it would have saved me some months of perplexing study. The impression that peculiar musical talent is necessary to comprehend the principles of music, has kept thousands from all serious attempts to become acquainted with the science. Your system is capable, I am confident, of conveying to uninstructed minds such a knowledge, in a few days, as would require several months in the usual mode of instruction. At a time when there are so many pretenders to improvements in every branch of science, very few of which do not prove to be mere pretenders, you will, of course, meet with difficulties in introducing your book, but the truth is mighty and must ultimately prevail.

With great respect, I remain yours, truly,

JOEL PARKER, D. D.

Pastor of the Clinton street Presbyterian Church.

Philadelphia, June 25, 1846.

Mr. J. B. Aikin,

Dear sir:—I have an ear and soul for music; but of the science I am no master. Your selection of musical airs for public worship I deem excellent. In hearing one of your lectures on your improvements, I learned more of the science of music than I could ever before acquire. I shall not despair of understanding the science if I can get time thoroughly to study your "Elements of Music." With the sentiments of the Rev. Dr. Parker I fully concur.

EZRA STYLES RYE, D. D.,

Pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Northern Liberties.

Philadelphia, July 9th, 1846.

Mr. J. B. Aikin,

Dear sir:—The Christian Minstrel should command the attention of the musical public. In your work the science of music is so simplified as to render a practical knowledge of it comparatively easy. The difficulty of mastering, and practically applying the common rules of music, is so great that few persons whose time is limited succeed. Whatever time does a good service to the church and to the community by rendering the musical part of worship more intelligible, which has been hitherto unnecessarily thrown around a science whose acquirement is over-estimated. You have popularized music, and made it "easy to be learned." Prejudice will doubtless look on your improvements with jaundiced eyes; but your system must succeed. I am satisfied that you have taken out the "stumbling-blocks out of the way of the people," and henceforth he who "runneth may read" music.

Truly your friend,

THOS. MACKELLAR.

Philadelphia, July 13, 1846.

From the Christian Observer,

To simplify whatever is complex, is one of the great purposes to which the genius of the age is applied. The results of this process may be seen in most of the text-books in our schools, and in every scientific manual. In the Christian Minstrel, by J. B. AIKIN, we have an illustration of this process in the science of music.

Mr. J. B. AIKIN,

Dear sir:—I have carefully examined your new system of musical notation, entitled The Christian Minstrel. After being engaged in teaching music for the last twenty-five years, I am free to say that your system obviates several difficulties in the old system which greatly perplex the learner. The simplification of the subject of the time, and the change of the letters on the staff, greatly facilitate the acquisition of the principles of the science of music. The sound and clear reasoning contained in the preface, and the elementary principles of your book, are sufficient to convince any unprejudiced mind that this valuable work must soon find its way into every church in the country. There is not a shadow of doubt in my own mind that it will soon become the general standard of church music, and that the system is of equal importance to instrumental music. Your arrangement of the measures, and the lettering of all the staffs alike will diminish more than one-half the labour of the new beginner.

With great respect, I remain yours, truly,

GEORGE HARDAKER,

Professor of Vocal and Instrumental Music.

Philadelphia, October 22, 1846.

We fully concur in the sentiments of approbation above expressed.

THOMAS G. ARMSTRONG,

Leader of Choir, First M. P. Church, Philadelphia.

JOHN [illegible],

Chorister of Eastburn Mariner's Bethel, Philadelphia.

WILLIAM SALTONA,

Leader of Choir, Bethlehem M. E. Church, Philadelphia.

JOHN HOOD,

Leader of Choir, Nazareth M. E. Church, Philadelphia.

From the Philadelphia Daily Sun.

AMONG the valuable achievements in science of modern times, the last—not least—is a work on music, just published in this city by J. B. AIKIN, with a collection of the most popular psalm tunes, anthems, and chants, entitled The Christian Minstrel, designed for the use of churches, singing-schools, &c.

This work accomplishes that which has been so long and so much needed, viz., rendering the science of music intelligible. The obscurity and mist which have hitherto been in the way of thousands to any progress in the attainment of a clear distinct knowledge of the principles of this science, are here dispelled. The work supplies the deficiencies which have been so deeply and so deplorably felt. It cannot be too soon adopted in the churches and schools of this city, and throughout the country. It is the system which is destined to prevail. The author has erected for himself a 'monumentum perennius ære.'—The date of the book is an epoch in the history of music.

To specify the radical improvements in the various arts connected with the science made in this work, would be superfluous, since it is published to the world, and to be appreciated and admired it needs but to be understood.
